POETRY.

From the Journal of Commerce.

Mr. Editor:—We once heard this noble national hymn sung by a chorus of distinguished voices, to the air of "God Save the King," and we never heard anything finer. The last stanza, in particular, was rendered in a way which we shall never forget. We wish you would insert it in your columns, and use your influence to get it sung in all the gatherings of those who are conscientiously laboring to preserve untarnished the freedom which it celebrates. T.

AMERICA.

My Country! 'tis of thee,
Sweet land of liberty,
Of thee I sing;
Land where my fathers died;
Land of the Pilgrim's pride,
From every mountain side
Let freedom ring.

My native country, thee,
Land of the noble free,
Thy name I love;
I love thy rocks, and rills;
Thy woods and templed hills;
My heart with rapture thrills,
Like that above.

Let music swell the breeze
And ring from all the trees
Sweet freedom's song;
Let mortal tongues awake;
Let all that breathe partake;
Let rocks their silence break,
The sound prolong.

Our fathers' God! to thee,
Author of liberty;
To thee I sing.
Long may our land be bright,
With freedom's holy light;
Protect us by thy might;
Great God our King.

Fashion and Ladies Dress.

The present form of Ladies' dress, is the result of fashions, and therefore fashion alone can change it. That, it is beyond compare, inconvenient, cumbersome, absurd, and dangerous, cannot be denied. Whether it is comely or elegant, depends on no known law or fact, but upon fashion or custom. What we are accustomed to see in dress, looks well, and new froms and methods, for a time, (only a little time) looks odd and strange. The present style would have been scouted as ridiculous, in the day of corded skirts and balloon-sleeves as they would be now. No one can defend or apologize for the Dorothy-fail style of this season, which turns a lady into a street sweeper, and silks and brocades into a mop.—It is indescribly filthy and disgusting. There is no manner of doubt that it would be a great public blessing, if dame fashion should take it into her head (if she has a head) to banish the excess of skirts, but in length and number from the female wardrobe. Two or three is enough—the customary number, is six or eight too much. If they should reach to within six or eight inches of the ground, they would be long enough for all the purposes of tripping up their owners, and getting into the mud on rainy days. We go for the abridgement. We have been bothered to make up our mind what the "World Fair" would be good for, beliving it to be the most magnificent humbug the world ever saw. It occurs to us, however, that it mights be made the occasion of giving the fashion of female attire a set in the right direction. If her Majesty and female suit, the Duchess of Moneybags, the Countess Oldstock, Lady Here, and Madam Upstart, should adopt a more rational costume and appear at the Crystal Palace, the deed would be done. Instantly some millions of the sex, would be busy with the shears, clipping redundant skirts according to the lates fashion. We do not know any other good that Queens can be put to. If this reform is to go on, how far is it to be carried! that's the question. Men will take sides—there will be "the high party," and "the low party," or "the long or short party." We shall join neither, but stand upon the "national and truly conservative position" of half way between, (the knee and ankle.) This is our "compromise." From "a careful examination of a very extensive list of exchanges," and a very general correspondence "with-informed gentlemen of moderate conservative views," we make no bones of venturing to express the rather—in fact very—decided opinion, that nine tenths of the people of this great Republic are with us upon the "half way between blatform."—Buffalo Express.

THE TURKISH DRESS.—Quite an excitement was produced at the staemboat landing, day before yesterday, at the appearance of a couple of ladies wearing the short Turkish dress.—They were travelling in company with gentlemen, and were evidently people of cultivation. A revolution in female custome is undoubtedly in preparation. There surely can be nothing more ungraceful than the long, drabbling dresses which sweep the street wherever ladies move. As a matter of personal comfort, the Turkish dress must be most agreable, in addition to its beauty. The chance would be great. At first, rather trying to the ladiest to be sure, but it cannot be worse, nay, half as bad, as the transition from "balloon sleeves" to the close dress of the present day, or many other changes which Fashion brings about every few years. In point of beauty, no costume is equal to that of the Turkish. Its convenience is superior to all others.—Oswego Paper.

REVOLUTION AMONG THE PETTICOATS.—The ladies are on skirts of reform—or on a of skirts. Since Amin Bey came to this country, they have talked much of Turkish trousers and short robes. Two ladies have promenaded Broadway recently, in this Eastern style. Some, more daring, have gone a little futher. They have taken to the frock coat and pantaloons. Mrs. Fanny Kemble, two years ago, set the example, on horseback—which has been followed by Miss Bloomer, of Seneca Falls, and others. Mrs. Swishelm, also jumps into this style. In Syracuse it is quite the rage; and, in fact, in several parts of the country ladies of some distinction have put a foot forword in this reform, which transforms the female appearance completely. The question naturally arises, if these steps in this new evidence of progress are to be continued, what is to become of the old, cast off petticoats? We suggest that nothing better can be done than to catch the dandies throughout the country, and in Broadway particularly, and invest them with the old robes of prerogative. They will cut more of a swell than ever, in the furbelows and flounces of the ladies.—N. Y. Herald.

"SHORT DRESSES."—The ladies, in several of the western cities, have adopted the new, fashionable and convenient style of short dresses and Turkish trousers, fastened at the ankles—a style that is now as much abused by old fogies and antiquated maiden ladies, as "bustles" used to be, though with far less reason. On such a day as yesterday, when the streets were in a dirty condition in consequence of the rain, the new dress would be most convenient to our lady friends, who would not be obliged, as they now too often are, to bedrabble their silks and delaines in the mud so disgracefully. Let old maides talk against them cynical editors sneer, and rude boys and big dirty corner loafers abuse them, but short dresses and Turkish trousers will eventually come in vogue.

Most women hate each other; they are misogonits without knowing it.

Sinking of a 'Diving Ship.'

An experiment of a new means of destroying ships of war, which was prepared during the late Holstein difficulties, terminated disastrously and almost tragically, near Kiel, in Danish Holstein. The Boston Advertiser translates from the Illustrerte Zeitung, published at Leipsic, the following account of the enterprise and its results:

The machine was invented by an under officer in the Schleswig Holstein army, by the name of Bauer, and was intended to be used in blowing up the Danish ships, which, during the last war were operating against Schleswig Holstein. Having perfected his plan, Bauer laid it before the Government of Schleswig Holstein, and asked for their aid in building his vessel. But they not having faith in the practicability of the plan, he was compelled to turn for assistance to rich individuals, and succeeded in obtaining by subscription in the Schleswig Holstein army, a sufficient sum to enable him to undertake the building of his ship. In this way the vessel was built at Kiel, and completed in December of that year. This wonderful ship was lannched in the presence of a great number of spectators at the port of Stapel. In form it resembles a common yacht, except that it is much narrower. A tube is placed in the fore part of it which is provided with very thick windows and a trap door, for the entrance and exit of the men necessary to work the ship; the visible apparatus consists of a pump for lifting and sinking the ship, and a screw by which it is propelled. There are also in the fore part two glovea of gutta percha, protected by which the director of the diving ship attaches the powder magazine to the vessel intended to be blown up. This is ignited from a distance by means of a galvanic wire. The sides as well as the deck of the vessel are of iron. An exact description of the machinery cannot be given, as the inventer very naturally does not wish to make it public.

On the first trial the sides of the ship, as well as the pumps, proved quite too weak, a difficulty which was early discovered, but which was caused by want of funds. The first trial was successful, however, as Bauer took care not to let his vessel sink too deep, being aware that at a depth of 30 feet, his ship would inevitably be destroyed by the pressure of the water. The particular object of the inventor, was the blowing up of the Danish ships of war, was prevented at that time, as their ships left the harbor on the approach of the frost.

On the first of February last, Bauer made another trial of his vessel, and this time he was not so fortunate even as before. He descended, accompanied by two volunteers from the Schleswig Holstein Navy, at nine o'clock in the morning, under water, and did not appear again with his ship. After the boats which had accompanied him had waited a long time for the reappearance of the ship, cannon were fired, in the hope of causing it to rise. Its place was found after some search by dropping a lead, and the cries for help of the submerged men were heard from the depths of the water. All possible attempts were now made to lift the diving ship, but they proved vain. Strong iron chains and cables were sunk in the water, and after long labor, some of them were actually made fast by Bauer, but the heavy ship could not be lifted upwards, and the multitudes from the city who had assembled in boats, considered the rescue of the three unfortunate men as impossible. What Bauer had dreaded had taken place. The pumps, when the vessel had reached the depth of thirty feet, worked badly, and it was foreseen that as they sank deeper they would be destroyed by the pressure of the water, or at least become useless. What was dreaded was not long delayed—a crash followed, and the three submerged men looked upon their fate as certain. This was the most fearful moment, according to Bauer's account, of the whole six hours which he and his companions spent under water.

Fortunately the deck of the ship and the side walls remained uninjured, although an opening was made in the lower part, by which the water slowly entered—a circumstance which saved the three men from certain death. The attempts to lift the ship by means of chains and cables were, as we have remarked, given up after long and vain exertions, and nothing remained to Bauer and his companions but their own efforts. The two strongest men tried to open the upper trap door, but in vain; the pressure of tee water was too strong to allow them to lift it as much as an inch, and there remained but one hope of salvation, and this was also a severe trial of their patience. It was with difficulty that Bauer persuaded his companions to keep quiet, and avoid all useless waste of their strength. He could not make them satisfied with his plan, which was to wait quietly the rising of the water, till the pressure of the air caused by this rising would be strong enough to open the trap door. With the greatest coolness, Bauer wrapped himself up in his cloak, and remained seated in the upper part of the ship, that he might not be chilled by the cold water. When the ship was so far filled with water that the three divers stood in it up to their necks, and it was almost impossible for them to breathe the condensed air, Bauer gave the strongest of his companions the signal to make an attempt to open the door.

He was able now to lift it with ease, and was carried in the same moment by the pressure of the air up out of the opening and thrown upon the surface of the water. Bauer and his two companions, who were almost fainting, naturally followed, and all three reached the surface of the water in safety, where they were immediately received with loud hurrahs from the assembled multitude, and taken into the boats. Breathing in the heavy air, and remaining in the icy cold water had so exhausted them that the two companions of Bauer were obliged to be sent to the Hospital, but he needed but a few hours repose to be entirely recovered.

The heavy diving ship, which weighed seventy thousand pounds, still lies forty feet deep in the water, and it is very doubtful whether it will ever be got up. The invention, however, is a valuable one, although the first trial has failed in consequence of the defective construction of the ship. In building another ship, which Bauer is still dispose to undertake, he hopes to remedy these defects, and to be able to prove that his invention will be found useful in carrying on naval warfare,

The German paper from which the above narrative is taken contains an engraving of the Diving Ship at Kiel, before its submersion.

Advantages of Railroads.—In the Scioto Gazette we find the following clincher in relation to the advantages of railroads, in enhancing the value of property adjacent thereto:

"A Railroad Fact.—A friend, who resides in Columbus, told us that he opposed subscription, by Franklin county, to the C., C. & C. railroad, two years ago. "And now, last week," he added, "I refused $750 cash, for a town lot, for which I was asking $500, when I voted against the subscription. So wise wise was I. The people went ahead, and carried subscription in spite of me, and others like me."

He farther told us, for the money subscribed, by Columbus and Franklin county, to railroads the citizens had got value back over and over."

Important from Charleston!

South Carolina Convention.—In the Convention this morning a minority report, signed by three of the committee of twenty-one, was presented. A resolution, by Mr. Orr, was offered, pleading the Convention to abide by the actions of the Legislature of the State as to whether secession shall take place with or without co-operation of other States.

A debate of considerable length ensued. No new arguments were adduced or brought forward, but all concurred in the wrongs as in the remedy, differing only as to the time and manner, but determined, whatever may be the course of action agreed upon, to support it cheerfully and unitedly.

The gentlemen composing the minority are Messrs. Butler, Orr and Barnwell. The latter considered that if South Carolina separated from the Southern States, the separation would be final, and that it would prove detrimental to the institution of slavery.

The question upon the adoption of the report of the committees, will be taken to-morrow at 9 o'clock. It will be adopted by a large majority. Mr. Rhett will probably speak upon the question to-morrow.

CHARLESTON, May 9.

State Convention Adjourned—Secession Resolution passed!—The State's Rights Convention has adjourned sine die, after an exciting session. The address and resolutions reported by the majority committee have been unanimously adopted. They declare in favor of unconditional secession at a future day, without reference to the co-operation of other Southern States; and look to the Legislature to assert its sovereign power. A central committee of nine members was appointed to carry out the resolutions of the Convention. The convention adjourned sine die, with prayer.—Its final action created intense excitement here, and serious apprehensions for the future.

CHARLESTON, May 9.

The address was unanimously adopted, together with the following resolutions:

First—With or without co-operation for secession.

Second—That co operation is not worth the sacrifice of a unanimous submission.

Third and eighth—Secession is essential to sovereignty.

Fourth the Convention is looking to the Legislature to exert its sovereign power.

The Convention formed itself into a Central Association for the State, preserving the present organization of delegates and members until new appointments. Each association is entitled to double the State district representation. To form the Central Committee, nine distinguished delegates were appointed.

The Right of Seceding from the Union.

It is very remarkable that, at the moment when a convention is about to assemble in one of the States for the purpose of deciding whether it will withdraw from the Union, a document contemporaneous with the formation of the constitution, and emanating from the chief of its authors, has come to light, which shows, beyond all doubt, that the idea of the right of secession was considered at the time of the adoption of the constitution by the several States, and abandoned as defeating the whole purpose of the constitution itself. It is strange that any one should require an argument to establish this, for it seems to us to result necessarily from the nature of the compact itself—but the opportune publication of the document which we refer to serves to show that the provident and far-seeing fathers of the republic did not overlook this danger, and intended to provide against it. The following correspondence between Hamilton and Madison has just seen the light, for the first time, and the Fayetteville Observer, by whom it has been produced, deserves the thanks of the country for giving it publicity at this season. The language of Mr. Madison, in the last of the letters here quoted, is as explicit as it was possible to make it. New York wished to come into the Union with a reservation of a right to withdraw. No, said the father of the government. "THE CONSTITUTION REQUIRES AN ADOPTION IN TOTO AND FOREVER."—FOREVER! Illustrious sage! His vast soul would be satisfied with nothing but a government reared to last through all time. He knew that to concede the right to each State to withdraw at pleasure, was remitting the States to the very perils of the old confederacy against which it was the purpose of the new constitution to guard them—and he resisted such a concession as the introduction of the seed of quick and certain mortality into the heart of the new government. He regarded the constitution and the Union as perpetual and immortal. He agreed that the constitution should provide that new States might join the Union—but he refused that it should contain a permission to any State to go out of the Union. He joyfully uttered in the adoption of the provision whereby the whole continent, or more, might come in under its broad ægis, and partake of its protection and its blessing, but he sternly refused to allow that any part of its once acquired territory should be lessened by voluntary withdrawal. He cared not how many stars might be added to the emblazonry of the gorgeous ensign of the republic—but, once there, they were never to aspire to any other sphere, or any other orbit:

Hamilton to Madison.

JULY 8, 1788.

My Dear Sir: I felicitate you sincerely on the event in Virginia, but my satisfaction will be allayed if I discover too much facility in the business of amendment making. I fear the system will be wounded in some of its vital parts by too general a concurrence in some very injudicious recommendations. I allude more particularly to the power of taxation.—The more I consider requisition in any shape, the more I am out of humor with it. We yesterday passed through the Constitution. To-day some definite proposition is to be brought forward, but what we are at a loss to judge. We have good reason to believe that our opponents are not agreed, and this affords some grounds of hope. Different things are thought of—conditions precedent or previous amendments; conditions subsequent, or the proposition of amendments, upon condition that if they are not adopted within a limited time, the State shall be at liberty to withdraw from the Union; and lastly, recommendatory amendments. In either case, constructive declarations will be carried as far as possible. We will go as far as we can in the latter without invalidating the act, and will concur in rational recommendations. The rest for our opponents. We are informed there has been a disturbance in the city of Albany, on the 4th of July, which has occasioned bloodshead. The Anti-Federalists were the aggressors, and the Federalist's the victors. Thus stand our accounts at present. We trust, however, the matter has passed over, and tranquility been restored.

Yours, affectionately,
A. HAMILTON.

POUGHKEEPSIE, Saturday, July, 1788.

I thank you, my dear sir, for yours by the post. Yesterday I communicated to Duer our situation, which I presume he will have communicated to you. It remains exactly the same. No further question having been taken, I fear the footing I mentioned to Duer is the best upon which it can be placed; but every thing possible will yet be attempted to bring the party from that stand to an unqualified ratification. Let me know your idea upon the possibility of our being received on that plan. You will understand that the only qualification will be the reservation of a right to recede, in case our amendments have not been decided upon in one of the modes pointed out by the Constitution within a certain number of years, perhaps five or seven. If this can, in the first instance, be admitted as a ratification, I do not fear any further consequences. Congress will, I presume, recommend certain amendments to render the structure of the Government more secure. This will satisfy the more considerate and honest opposers of the Constitution, and with the aid of them will break up the party. Yours, affectionately,

A. HAMILTON.

Madison to Hamilton.

NEW YORK, Sunday Evening.

My Dear Sir: Yours of yesterday is this instant come to hand, and I have but a few minutes to answer it. I am sorry that your situation obliges you to listen to propositions of the nature you described. My opinion is, that a reservation of a right to withdraw, if amendments be not decided on under the form of the Constitution within a certain time, is a conditional ratification; that it does not make New York a member of the new Union, and consequently that she could not be received on that plan. Compacts must be reciprocal; this principle would not in such a case be preserved. The Constitution requires an adoption in toto and forever. It has been so adopted by the other states. An adoption for a limited time would be as defective as an adoption of some of the articles only. In short, any condition whatever must vitiate the ratification. What the new Congress, by virtue of the power to admit new states, may be able and disposed to do in such case, I do not inquire, as I suppose that is not the material point at present. I have not a moment to add more than my fervent wishes for your success and happiness.—The idea of reserving a right to withdraw was started at Richmond, and considered as a conditional ratification, which was itself abandoned as worse than a rejection. Yours,

JAMES MADISON, JR.

Going into Debt and Going into Seccession.—While some of the Southern States are arranging to leave the Union they are also arranging to make a levy upon the finances of some of their Northern brethern. For instance, one of the New York papers says that North Carolina and corporations within the State are now in the market for about $1,000,000. The State wants $50,000, of which $10,000 is intended to pay an installment on a plank road, and $40,000 to meet the existing debt of the State. The Deep River Company wants $54,000; the town of Wilmington $100,000, to pay its subscription to the Manchester Railroad, and the Manchester Railroad Company $800,000 on a mortgage of all its property.

True, North Carolina is not as fanatical in disunion notions as is her sister, but there are a good many of her people preaching secession and a Southern Confederacy. Under such circumstances asking for money from the North looks a good deal like getting into debt and then running away.—Cin Enq.

The Appalling Occurrence at Danville.—The Lewisburgh Chronicle of Wednesday gives the particulars of the injury to the Methodist Church at Danville, by lightning, on Sunday last:

The congregation was kneeling in prayer, just before the sacrement was to be administered. There were no previous indications of a storm, except a sprinkle of rain, and a cloud which seemed to be gathering in a northerly direction. The steeple was first struck, and much shattered. After reachin the main building, the electric fluid divided into two seperate currents—one passing through the ceiling and along the chain by which one of the lamps was suspended, (both of which latter were demolished,) directly down into the midst of the crowded congregation, tearing up the floor and pews considerably, and instantly killing a Mrs. Pensyl, and inflicting alarming injuries upon her sister, Miss Vastine, and eight or nine others, mostly females, besides stunning and otherwise partially affecting many other persons. The ladies' dresses were much torn as well as set on fire, and in some instances ripped completely open to the flesh by the force of the terrific bolt. Mrs. Pensyl's person bore no external marks of injury, but most of a the others were scorched and discolored to a greater or less extent. The other currant passed out through the brick wall by the front door, tearing off the facings and prostrating a young man by the name of Jones, who was just at that moment in the act of entering. The lightning struct his right shoulder, tore his right boot to fragments, and blistered his flesh from shoulder to heel so badly that the skin peeled off when his clothes were removed.

Our informant a gentleman of this place, who was in the chapel at the time, says that it was the most appalling scene of consternation and distress he ever witnessed.

The chapel is a new building, and the entire elevation of the steeple, or dome, is about 80 feet, and no lightning rod; though we understand one had been contracted for, and was expected to be put up in the course of the summer.

We learn by a gentleman form Danville last evening, that the injured persons were all in a hopeful way for recovery.

A Short Sentence.—That notorious old evil-doer, familiarly known to man, woman, and child through Southern Michigan, as "Sile Doty" was brought up for sentence a few days ago, before his Honor Judge Pratt. Pratt surveyed the prisoner a few moments severely, in order to impress him with a becoming sense of his situation, after which he addressed to him a severe lesson upon his past transgressions and wicked ways, having concluded which, and the prisoner having meekly intimated that he had nothing to say in mitigation of sentence, Judge P. addressed him thus:

"Doty, how old are you?"

"Fifty-three, your honor."

"Doty, the enormity of your offence demands that you be sentenced to the State Prison for twenty years. But, Doty, we are reminded by the words of Holy Writ, that the days of a men's years are three score and ten—I shall, therefore, in clemency towards you, and in being guided by the scriptural limit of human life, sentence you the State Prison for only seventeen years!"

Doty was almost overwhelmed with a sense of his deep obligation to the clemency of the judge.—Detroit Advertiser.

The expected increase in the Royal Family of England will not take place, it is now said. It has been postponed, for some reason or other—probably on account of the World's Fair.

Wheat and Corn in Indiana.

The census tables returned by the Marshall contain some valuable statistics in regard to to the productions of the state.

The north is emphatically the wheat growing region, embracing all that portion of the state lying on the upper Wabash, and the St. Joseph's of Michigan. La Porte county produces the largest amount of wheat of all the counties in the state. Allen county stands second on the list, and Elkhart third. The production of these counties was as follows for 1849.

Laporte county,	204,456	Bushels.
Allen "	189,413	"
Elkhart "	175,211	"

The other northern wheat growing counties produced as follows:

Cass county,	109,449	Bushels,
Carroll "	127,266	"
Folton "	72,154	"
Miami "	112,768	"
Wabas "	116,504	"
Huntington	76,749	"
Whitley "	46,600	"
Kosciusko "	116,381	"
Noble "	66,044	"
De Kalb "	76,744	"
Steuben "	72,732	"
LaGrange "	127,333	"
St. Joseph "	164,907	"
Marshall "	51,580	"
Porter "	70,846	"
Lake "	46,349	"

Making a total in nineteen counties of 2,022,486 bushels, or about one-third of the entire production of the state.

Every county produces wheat, but many in small quantities in proportion to the population. Jennings county is the heaviest producer south of the National Road, 167,810 bushels. Wayne, with a population of 25,900, produces 164,181 bushels, being less than St. Joseph with 10,955 inhabitants. The total product of the state is 6,457,965 bushels, being an increase over the census of 1840, of 2,408,590 bushels. The entire value of this crop is not less than four millions of dollars.

The great staple of Indiana, however, is Indian Corn, of which the entire product is 51,449,668 bushels, worth on an average twenty cents per bushel, making a total valuation of $10,289,933 60. The bottom lands of the Wabash, White River, White Water and their numerous tributaries, are eminently adapted to the culture of corn, and this region embraces about three-fourths of the territory of the state.

The following thirteen counties raised over one million of bushels each:

Tippecanoe	1,790,801	bushels,
Rush	1,692,920	"
Wayne	1,391,312	"
Putnam	1,354,379	"
Montgomery	1,318,098	"
Morgan	1,201,485	"
Shelby	1,201,295	"
Marion	1,191,900	"
Parke	1,188,028	"
Ladison	1,180,538	"
Decatur	1,144,507	"
Franklin	1,101,836	"
Bartholomew	1,091,326	"

Total 16,848,425 bushels, or nearly one-third of the whole product of the State.

These statements are but faint outlines of what Indiana is capable of doing, or will do, when her numerous channels of commerce shall be completed, and the energies of her farmers are awakened and stimulated by remunerating prices. The corn crop alone has been doubled in the last ten years, and every year adds to the amount. Only one-fourth of the taxable lands of the state are yet under improvement.

We shall not pretend to estimate, at this time, what Indiana will be, but if she does not entitle herself to the appellation of Uncle Sam's Garden, she will certainly be his cornfield.—Indiana Statesman.

ANGELS AT A WEDDING.—La Roy Sunderland, the Spiritual Knocker, and Editor of the Spirit World, thus chronicles the marriage of his daughter:

Married, in this city, on the evening of the 22d inst., by Rev. W. M. Fernalan, Mr. William J. Stuart, and Miss Sarah Mercena Sunderland, (second daughter of the editor of this paper,) both of Boston. During the marriage ceremony the angels made sensible demonstrations of their joyful presence.

Nothing new. "The angles"—dear creatures!—always are "joyful" on such occasions, and are "sensable enough" enough to make the proper "demonstrations."

"Will you have this man to be your wedded husband?" A "sensible and joyful demonstration" is the most natural thing possible, in reply to such a question. How many are waiting to be the blessed angel, as a prominent actor in such a joyful scene, is known only to Him who formed both man and woman for the blissful companionship of husband and wife!—Mil. Dem.

Improved Horse Shoe.—We observe that among the English patents recently granted, is one taken out by Mr. Rodway, for an improved horse shoe, which is so constructed as to give the horse a secure foothold even upon a wooden pavement, or wet ground, while it obviates the necessity of frost-nailing, or calkins, in frosty weather. It is more durable than the common shoe, and quite as cheap; and from the ease with which it can be adapted to the foot, so as, in point of fact, speaking metaphorically, to form a part of it, it prevents those numerous diseases which are the destruction of so much horse-flesh. The improvement consists in grooving the bottom of the shoe in a peculiar manner. The nails are also sunk in grooves so as never to become loosened by wear.

Useful Hints.—Cholic in horses is readily cured by tying a small piece of tobacco on the bit of the bridle. The cure is effected when the tobacco is dissolved in the saliva. We have seen horses cured in this way when swelled up badly and in great agony.

Never trim the hair from the ear of your horse. It is placed there by nature, to protect the orifice and drum of the ear from insects, dirt and sudden changes of the weather.

Raising Quince Trees.—An intelligent cultivator of fruit has very successfully adopted the following practice for raising quince trees in the nursery. Instead of planting the cuttings of the desired variety into the soil, as by the usual method, he inserts each cutting as a graft into an apple root, precisely as in common root grafting. The cuttings commence growing rapidly at once, deriving as they do a full supply of nourishment from the root of the apple; and afterwards throwing out roots of their own, as they always do very freely, the apple root separates and dies, while the quince continues to flourish on its own roots. This is found to afford very handsome and thrifty young trees, and with much greater certainty than if raised simply by putting in the soil.

PITTSBURGH, May 7th.

Total Destruction of the Cathedral at Pittsburgh.—The Roman Catholic Church, the oldest and largest in this city, which was erected at a cost of $30,000, was discovered to be on fire at eleven o'clock yesterday morning, and was totally consumed. It contained a splendid organ, valued at 6,000, which was also consumed. There was about $5,000 insurance on the building. While the church was burning a man was discovered in the act of setting fire to the Bishop's residence adjoining.

Our Railroad.—The engineers surveying the route of the Ohio and Indiana Railroad may be expected here in a week or two. The Delphos (Section Ten) Oracle of last Wednesday says:—"The Engineers on the Ohio and Indiana Railroad are at work in this vicinity viewing the route. Onward this road is bound!"

Dreadful Storm—Inundation.—On Wednesday night and Thursday last, we were visited with the most severe storm ever experienced here. The rain fell in torrents, and a large part of the city was totally submerged with water, which rose to the height of four or five feet on some of the streets. It was with great difficulty that some families were rescued from their dwellings. Women might be seen wading waist-deep in the water carrying their children to a place of safety: boats were plying in the streets, and rafts of lumber and drift wood floating in every direction.

The injury to the corn crop in the country is incalculable—most of it is either washed out or rotted in the ground, and will have to be replanted.

During the storm the distillery was struck with lightning, but did not sustain any considerable damage. The spire of the Lutheran Church was also struck, and considerably shattered.

On Thursday evening we experienced quite a hurricane, which entirely unroofed the north wing of the Methodist Seminary; tore off a portion of the roof of the main building, and blew it on to the south wing, destroying a large part of the roof there also. The damage to the building is estimated at from $700 to $1,000.

Breaks in the Canal.—The heavy rain on Thursday caused several breaks in the canal. Two on the Feeder, which will be repaired in course of two or three days; two others on the level east of this place, which may possibly be fixed within the week; the Aboit aqueduct is damaged, and there are two or three breaks in the neighbo hood of Dickey's Lock. We have not ascertained the extent of these, but learn that it will probably take at least two weeks to repair them.

Grant Co. Democratic Convention.—At a convention of the democrats of Grant Co. held at Marion, on Saturday last, the following delegates were appointed to attend the Congressional District Convention at Huntington on Wednesday next: John W. Dodd, F. P. Lucas, J. B. Horton, J. G. Vanhorn, R. B. Brown, J. S. Shively, and Zimri Reynolds—and the following as contingent delegates: E. Norton, E. Line, J. C. House, A. J. Ruley, Jesse Jackson, Franklin Leas, and D. P. Cubberley.

No instructions were given the delegates, or expression made of the feelings of the convention in regard to who should be the candidate for Congress; but we presume as a matter of course that the delegates will support the claims of A. J. Harlan for reëlection.

Secession of South Carolina!

The treasonable convention which lately assembled in Charleston, S. C., (as will be seen by the account of its proceedings on our first page) has resolved that that State shall secede from the Union—with or without the coöperation of the other southern states. It leaves it to the Legislature to adopt the most speedy and effectual measures towards that end.

We do not attach much importance to this talk of secession—for we believe it to be only talk. The convention was not the representatives of the people of South Carolina, but of the States Rights Associations in different parts of the state, who appointed the delegates. And even that convention was far from unanimous in favor of the secession. The resolutions were only carried by a majority of eleven votes. If the question be submitted to a vote of the whole people of the state we believe it will be negatived.

But even if otherwise, what will be the result? Will the mere declaration that they have seceded, take them out of the Union, and dissolve our glorious confederation? We cannot for a moment think so. Two or three national ships in the harbor of Charleston will be sufficient to collect the duties on the cargoes of all vessels entering there from foreign ports. If the chivalry resist this by acts of overt violence, they must be chastised, and their ring-leaders punished as traitors to the Union.

When a dozen or a score of those miscreants meet the just reward of their treason, the affair will be done, and the secession farce ended.—The people will have their eyes opened, and the state will be all the better for being rid of the turbulent and mischievous men who have long controlled it, and made it a laughing stock and bye-word among its sister states.

In either event we think this resolve to secede will have a beneficial effect. If an attemp is made to accomplish it, the South Carolinians will be learned the folly of the undertaking and the futility of their attempting to measure forces with the general government. If they do not attempt to carry their threats into execution—if this prove to be only another braggadocia, intended to intimidate the general government and the Union,—they will see that such things have lost their power, and excite only contempt and derision. They may possibly learn wisdom from this, and by discarding the ridiculous and mischievous counsels which have so long misled them, seek to retrieve the character of their state, and hereafter pursue a reasonable and sensible course, and occupy such a position among the states as their rank in the scale entitles them to.—When the scales fall from their eyes, they will see that South Carolina, instead of being the Union, is only a very insignificant portion of it—a mere drop in the bucket.

The Whigs and the Compromise.—A strong effort is making by the friends of Gen. Scott to have him nominated without giving publicity to his views on the Compromise question. This plan of "making no declaration for the public eye" is a favorite scheme of the whigs,—but it does not appear to take on the present occasion. Many influential whig papers insist on knowing how their candidate stands on this vital question, and will support no one around whose opinions there can be a shadow of doubt. The General will have to define his position—his friends will not be allowed to represent him in the South as a friend of the Compromise, and in the north as opposed to it.

The following from the St. Louis Intelligencer speaking the feelings of the whig party there on the question, and we see similar declarations in other southern and south-wesrern papers. It will be seen that they make the support of the Compromise a sine qua non, and will sustain no man who is not sound on the question. How does the State Sentinel reconcile the fact of the Compromise being so emphatically a whig measure, with his efforts to have the same question supercede the old democratic platform?

☞ The St. Louis Intelligencer of the 3rd inst. heartily approves of the article in the Republican of the city the day previous on the subject of the Presidency. The Intelligencer concludes its article in this wise:

Such being our views of the importance of mantaining the fugitive slave bill, we trust, that in the next Presidential campaign, the whig party will enlist under the banner of no leader, around whose opinions touching this bill, there lingers the shadow of a doubt. So far as we are concerned, we would not vote for Henry Clay, Daniel Webster, Millard Fillmore, nor any other of the eminent men who adorn the whig ranks, if we had reason to doubt that he would faithfully, cordially and zealously sustain this bill. We would make it a sine qua non; for the reason that we love the Union more than party. But no man need hope to be the candidate of the whigs, unless he is sound in his subjects. Nor must there be any room for doubt as to his position. He must proclaim himself openly, boldly and in the most unqualified terms. Nothing less than this will satisfy the whigs of the south and west, and of a large portion of the east and north.—If therefore, there be the slightest ground to doubt Gen. Scott's position, on this subject, it is time he was removing this doubt, if he aspires to be the standard bearer of the whigs in the next contest. For ourselves, we know nothing to justify such a doubt, and in due time, the old Hero of Cerro Gordo, will doubtless place the matter beyond cavil or dispute.—From Millard Fillmore we need no declaration of his opinion on that subject. He has long since "defined his position" in unmistakeable terms. In precept and in practice, in theory and in fact, he has proved himself the staunch friend of the compromise in all its parts. There is no mistaking Mr. Fillmore's position on any of the great issues which divide the country.

THE HEIR OF DERWENTWATER.—By E. S. Blanchard. Dewitt & Davenport, Publishers, Tribune Buildings, New York. Price 50 cents.

This is a romance, in which fiction is lost sight of in the life-like portraying of the characteristics of a high circle of English society. The truth of the maxim that a man's exterior appearance, or lofty station, is no criterion of his moral or intellectual character, is truthfully exemplified; and a graphic picture given of the men and manners of the reign of George III., showing what a slight moral difference then existed between the fashionable and aristocratic roué and the most desperate of those who ministered to his uncurbed excesses.

The author is a good observer of men and manners, and the many beautiful passages in his book prove that he has a rich vein of poetry in his soul.

DeKalb County Democratic Convention.

The Democrats of DeKalb county met in Convention on Saturday, the 17th of May, at the Court House in Auburn, and was called to order by the calling of JOSEPH WOOLSEY to the Chair, and JOHN I. WIDNEY, Secretary.

On motion of R. J. Dawson, the following resolution was adopted:

Resolved, That all democrats present, residents of the county, be respectfully invited to participate in the deliberations of the convention.

The following is the vote alowed to each township.

Butler.	4	Union	9
Jackson	6	Richland	6
Concord	11	Fairfield	3
Newville	1	Smithfield	3
Stafford	2	Franklin	5
Wilmington	5	Troy	2

On motion, the convention then proceeded to ballot for candidates for county offices, which produced the following result:

Joseph Woolsey, Assessor; Jacob Helwig, Commissioner, 1st district; John C. Hursh, Commissioner, 3d district: Lyman Chidsey, Coroner.

On motion of T. R. Dickinson, Esq., a committee of five was appointed to recommend delegates to the Congressional Convention at Huntington, on the 28th inst. The committee made the following report, which was accepted and unanimously adopted.

Resolved, That Joseph Woolsey, Robert Work, John Shutt, R. J. Dawson, Jacob Helwig, and T. R Dickinson be appointed delegates by this convention to attend the Congressional Convention at Huntington, on the 28th inst. Also, Resolved, That if any of the foregoing delegates should not attend, that they be authorized to select some person in their stead, and should they fail to attend, then the whole delegation in attendance at that convention fill their vacancy.

On motion of Geo. Ensley, Esq., the following persons were selected delegates to attend the Representative district convention at Angola, on the third Saturday of June next: Q. C. Clark, G. C. Mudget, Wm. B. Daucer, Amzi Seely, W. Griswold, R. J. Dawson, S. W. Sprott, H. Fegler, G. Monroe, R. Work, G. Ensley, R. Martin, Wm. Showers, Jacob Helwig, G. Barney, Saml. Widney, Moses L. Piersons, Charles Knapp, Wm. Day, John Zimmerman, A. Cope, J. C. Hursh, F. Blake.

On motion of R. J. Dawson, the Chair appointed R. J. Dawson, Robert Work, and A. Cope to wait upon Hon. DAVID B. HERRIMAN, who the convention was informed was in town, and invite him to address the convention instanter. The committee retired, and soon after returned with Mr. Herriman, who declined making an address, but made a few potent remarks in "Old Dave's" style; to which the convention responded by the following resolutions—adopted unanimously:

Resolved, That we have all confidence in the honesty, integrity, and capability of our old and tried friend Hon. David B. Herriman, as a man every way eminently qualified to represent us in the 32nd Congress. And the delegates from this county be instructed to use all honorable means to secure his nomination.

Resolved, That in view of the great interest involved in the approaching election, we earnestly though respectfully request the delegates from our neighboring counties to assist our delegation in securing the nomination of the said David B Herriman.

On motion, Resolved, That the proceedings of this convention be published in the Fort Wayne Sentinel, and Albion Observer.

On motion the convention adjourned sine die.

Answer to the Enigma in our last.—Fort Wayne Sentinel—Friars—Oysters—Rant—Talent—Wife—An art—Yes—News—Eyre—Sweet Rose—Elates—Neat—Tyranny—Irony—New—Early—Lore.

Samuel Brenton.—The name of this gentleman, so well know in this community, is announced in the Fort Wayne Times, as a candidate for Congress in that district—"subject to the decision of the people at the ballot-box on the 1st Monday of August next."

We believe Mr. Brenton once practiced law, and has had experience in legislative matters as a member of the Indiana Legislature. He is a Whig in politics, and a Methodist in religion. We are not sufficiently acquainted with the man to speak of his fitness as a member of Congress. John B. Dubois and Sam. Mahon are also announced as candidates in the district. Both are Whigs.—Lafayette Jour.

Counterfeit Five Dollar Bills, on the State Bank of Ohio, have made their appearance within a few days, which are well calculated to deceive. Letter C, vignette five human figures, three of them females, one holding a rake, to the right of these two Indians—sheaf of wheat and a bunch of arrows in the centre—Franklin on the left hand margin. The hair of Franklin is coarse on the counterfeits, face rough, and a black spot at the tip of the chin. On the genuine notes, Franlin's countenance is plain, eyes good, and chin rounded. The engraving on the counterfeits appears darker than the genuine. Those seen where on the Athens Branch, but they can be filled with any other, as the name of the Branch is written in the note.

The Democratic Position.—The following article from the Fort Wayne Sentinel commends itself to the attentive consideration of every Democrat. The question involved is one entirely independent of, and far elevated above, all merely personal considerations.—While we have studiously abstained, for good reasons, from canvassing this subject in its personal bearings, on the course, character and position of the Press militant, at Indianapolis, when, to say nothing of the principle of the measure per se, the safety and success of the party and the whole Democratic policy is jeopardized by any effort to induce the adoption of a single ill-starred measure of a more than ordinary sectional character, as the alpha and omega of the political faith of the once Ism hating, and truly national Democracy, it becomes every sincere well-wisher of the benign policy, and benificent aims of that great party to speak, if need be in trumpet tones, against delivering ourselves up to the guidance of pre-designed, and therefore ill advised counsels, or the teachings of purblind prejudice. Our wish is that regardless of mere ephemeral questions, the Democracy will be found in future as heretofore, battling manfully for Democratic rights, and ready to embrace victory or defeat as the grateful reward or sad result of unfaltering devotion to well settled principles. We have but little to fear as to the great body of the Democratic forces, and as to the few who may be in danger of straying somewhat from the fold, we earnestly commend to them, for their own sakes, the injunction of the prophet:

> "Ponder the path of thy feet."

Restoration of Thomas W. Dorr.—The following just act has been passed by the Rhode Island Legislature, restoring Thomas W. Dorr to his political privileges. The vote in the Senate stood 18 in the affirmative to 11 in the negative; and in the House 30 in the affirmative to 32 in the negative. In the House 4 whigs voted in the affirmative:

It is enacted by the General Assembly as follows: All the civil and political disabilities growing out of the sentence of the Supreme Court passed against Thomas W. Dorr, are hereby removed; and the said Thomas W. Dorr is hereby restored to his civil and political rights in as full a manner and with the same effect as if said sentence had not been passed.

The American Contributions.—We give below an extract of a letter from an American gentleman in London to his friends in this city respecting the portion of the Grand Exhibition which has been contributed by our countrymen and the comparison which it bears with the contributions of other countries. The view which he presents is not pleasant—indeed it is rather mortifying to our national pride—but it is from an honest and intelligent source, and, though unpalatable, the bitter may prove wholesome.—Nat. Intel.

"The importance of this Exhibition has been greatly underrated by us. The European display will be costly and magnificent beyond description. Some single individuals have gone to an expense of £10,000 in the arrangement and display of their goods. If our Government had granted us many dollars to the object, we might have made a creditable appearance. As it is, the American portion will bear an appearance of stinting and meanness not very flattering to our national vanity. The articles, now that they are in the building, are found to be insufficient to fill the allotted space, and a considerable portion of it has been resigned to other countries. I fear we shall be very badly beaten; and I advise any one who intends coming here in the expectation that this Exhibition is going to raise our country in the eyes of the world, to stay at home. I was one of those who expected it, but now that I see the splendid results of the art and taste of the European nations I feel that what we have to show is only creditable considering our youth. Some of our carriages and machinery are, however, quite comparable with the best here. In daguerreo types, also, we shall excel, and in India rubber fabrics. But in all works of art and taste—in sculpture, glass, silks, woollens, and even in agricultural implements, we shall either be entirely surpassed or quite equalled. In designs we are thrown entirely into the shade. There will be an advantage growing out of all this. We have been "comparing ourselves among ourselves," until we have become convinced that we are ahead of all mankind.—This direct comparison will open our eyes, and must, I think, result in great good, by giving a powerful impulse to the arts in our country; if so, the temporary mortification will be more than compensated, and may be recurred to without regret."

Col. Collier's Speech.—We were not present at the Collier supper, and did not hear the Colonel's speech, but we are told that he bore hard upon some prominent members of the Whig party. Ex-Secretary Meredith was characterized as an official blunderer, and Horace Greely as a white livered scoundrel, who deserved to be pinned by the ears to the stocks. This is strong language, but if we have the right end of the story it is not stronger than marited. The Colonel's friends say that he will not tamely submit to be made the scape goat to carry into the wilderness the sins of the administration, but that he is determined to put the saddle on the right horse. We don't distinctly understand what's the matter, but there must be somethidg wrong to call forth such emphatic opinions of the schemes of Whiggery.—Steubenville Union.

Although a strong Whig, Col. Collier is a patriot and a true hearted American. He denounced the traitors who opposed the Mexican war, and took sides with the Democracy in that memorable struggle. The Colonel was intended for a Democrat, but some how or other he got into the Whig ranks by mistake. We hope he will come out all right yet.—Pitts Post.

A NEW RAILROAD ENTERPRISE.—Buffalo has taken steps to secure some of the advantages of the New York and Erie Railroad. A charter has been obtained and a road has been obtained and a road has been surveyed and located from Hornellsviie on the Erie road, to Buffalo. The grade is favorable for speed, and the track will be laid six feet, to correspond with the rest of the road. It is thus designed to make Buffalo the terminus of the Erie road.—The distance from Hornellville to Dunkirk is 134 miles, and from the same place to Buffalo it is 90 miles. The lake can thus be reached 44 miles nearer than by Dunkirk. To persons going up the lake this will be the route, and it will be of great benefit to Buffalo. The road will be pressed with all the vigor that money and energy can accomplish.—Toledo Blade.

Rail Road Matters.—A corps of engineers, are now in this county making preliminary surveys, with a view to the location of the Railroad. The corps started from this place East, yesterday, to run an experimental line to the county line. In a few days they will run west, in the direction of Fort Wayne.

We are pleased to see our people manifesting the energy in this matter that they are now showing. Whatever may have been the difference of opinion in regard to subscribing county stock, heretofore, the most of those with whom we now converse, feel disposed to extend all the aid and assistance in their power to the company;—and all deprecate any action which can embarrass the company, or retard the completion of the work.

Much of the ability of the company depends at this juncture upon the amount of individual stock subscribed by our people. There are probably not fifty men in Allen county, who are not abundantly able to subscribe one share of stock, and at least one half of the tax payers can subscribe two shares and upwards, without inconveniencing themselves seriously. Many have already said that they will do much more, and very many have done much more in the way of subscription. Those who have promised aid can now afford it. Those who have not promised, but who are able to afford assistance, should now come forward. The stake is high, and is well worthy of every exertion to secure it. The people of Allen county never have had, and if this opportunity passes, probably never may have again, such immense results depending upon their own action.

The question is one of unlimited prosperity, of a high, active, and healthful improvement, or of a droning, inactive, negligent life. With this road, every facility for business and communication is opened—without it, we are tributaries of other counties, whose people have manifested more wisdom and energy than our own.

With results like these depending upon our action, who will hesitate?—Lima (Ohio) Argus

Railroad Meeting.—The people of Allen County are requested to meet at the Court House in Lima, on Saturday afternoon the 24th inst., at one o'clock, to take into consideration measuers for the speedy completion of the Ohio and Indiana Railroad. Books for Stock Subscription will be opened on that day, and it is hoped that all who can attend will not fail to do so.—Ibid.

The Ohio and Indiana Railroad Co.

The company is authorized by charter granted by the Legislature of Ohio and Indiana to construct a railroad "commencing at a suitable point to be selected by said company on the Cleveland, Columbus and Cincinnati Railroad near Sultzer's tavern in the county of Richland; thence to Bucyrus, in the county of Crawford; thence to Upper Sandusky, in the county of Wyandot; and thence on route as the Directors of said company, or a majority of them may select, to the west line of the State of Ohio; and thence to Fort Wayne in the State of Indiana."

The eastern terminus of this road has been located at Crestline, the point of intersection of the Cleveland, Columbus and Cincinnati with the Ohio and Pennsylvania Railroad, twelve and a half miles east of Bucyrus.

A meeting of the Board of Directors of the Ohio and Indiana Railroad Company was held on the 1st of May, 1851, at Patterson, a little town on the Mad River and Lake Erie Railroad, thirty miles south-west of Tiffin City.—Members of the Board present: Willis Meriman, President; George Quinby, Jacod Augenstein and Franklin Abams, of Bucyrus, and Henry Peters, of Upper Sandusky, Directors; George Lauck, Secratary; also Jesse R. Straughn, Chief Engineer, and Lot Dickson, Resident Engineer.

A large number of gentlemen representing the interests of the country along the line were prestent and participated in the deliberations, among whom were the following: Thomas K. Jacobs, Ferdinand H. Binkley and Edmund S. Linn, of Lima, Lester Bliss, of Delphos, and Thomas Nash, of Lafayette, Directors, and Matthias N. Nichols, of Lima, Secretary of the Great Western Railroad Company; Samuel Hanna, J. L. Williams, Pliny Hoagland and Peter P. Bailey, of Fort Wayne Indiana; Robert Gilliland, Edward R. Wells Ruben Frisbie, of Van Wert, and Silas C. Newton, of Delphos, Van Wert county, Ohio; Ben. Metcalf, of Delphos, and Daniel Bower, of Lima, Allen county, Ohio; William Cary, Edward Stillings, James L. Robinson, Hugh Letson and George Sweney, of Kenton, and Peter C. Boslow and A. F. Stanley, of Patterson, Hardin county, Ohio; Moses H. Kirby, Chester R. Mott, George W. Berry, David Ayres, Elijah Giles, John Junkins and Curtis Berry, of Upper Sandusky, Wyandot county, Ohio; Chester Cook, John W. Elder, Chauncey R. Fairchild, Solomon Ripley and George W. Woolford, of Mount Blanchard, and John W. Williams, John F. Perky and Dr. Lesley, of Williamstown, Hancock county, Ohio; Moses Lee, William M. Bell, Jabez S. Spencer and Thomas Coulter, of Kalida, Elisha Stout, William Hughes, John E. Crayton and William McClure, of Gilboa, Henry Kilhoffer and Elam Day, of Pendleton and John B. Fruchey, of Pleasant, Putnam county, Ohio; and Andrew J. Taylor, of Paulding county, Ohio.

The Ohio and Indiana Railroad was located definitely from Upper Sandusky, in Wyandot county, west through Lima, in Allen county, to Delphos in Allen and Van Wert counties, and a union satisfactory to all parties effected with the Western Railroad Company, the interests of which have ever been and the efforts of which will hereafter be identical with those of the Ohio and Indiana Railroad Company.

Committees were appointed for the whole line to solicit subscriptions the the capital stock and obtain releases for rights of way on behalf of the company, and arrangements made for the completion of the preliminary surveys as soon as possible.

The prospects of the company are considered most flattering. The greatest enthusiasm and confidence in the early completion of the work prevailed at the meeting. The means for gradeing and bridging the road from Crestline to Fort Wayne may be regarded as already provided, with no intervening obstacle except the injunction proceeding now pending in reference to the public subscriptions of Crawford and Wyandot counties, which however effects the line only from the Mad River and Lake Erie Railroad eastward. The meeting at Patterson will operate most beneficially in concentrating the attention and energies of the people upon the completion of this important work. It is virtually an extension of the Ohio and Pennsylvania road to the great west, and the position of the line must make it a great and leading thoroughfare and its stock desirable as a means of permanent and profitable investment.—Bucyrus Forum.

From the European Times May 3.

Opening of the World's Fair.

After several days' excitement, during which the public curiosity has been wound up to the highest pitch, the morning of Thursday the day fixed for the opening of the Great Exhibition of the Industry of all Nations, opened most auspiciously. On the preceding day we had rain and hail with very cold weather; but the glorious 1st of May was uninterrupted by scarcely a cloud; and at mid-day when the Queen ascended the throne, the effulgence of the sun left no other wish ungratified. The scene upon entering was beautiful in the extreme. Already every seat was occupied, but a member of Parliament who was an exhibitor contrived to make a little coterie in the Tunisian department to which I was admitted, and I saw the whole inauguration scene under the happiest point of view. The company kept pouring in until the last moment; and at half past eleven o'clock, I gazed upon the wonders of the grand transept, and heard the mighty organ from the west end, the tones wafting their sounds through the maze of British manufactures and productions; whilst at the eastern extremity you saw the American eagle proudly conspicuous over the bold inscription which marked the region of the United States productions—long lines of beautiful women, with officers and gentlemen, filling up the back ground, and in every way the eye was turned some surprising natural or artificial object was to be seen; the tout ensemble was altogether most beautiful. Punctually at twelve o'clock the Queen arrived, her entrée being marked by long and animated cheering. She seated herself on a chair raised on a platform surmounted by a spacious elegant blue canopy adorned with feathers, with Prince Albert on her left. They were accompanied by the Prince of Wales and the Princess Royal. The court circle was now completely formed, making a tableau never to be forgotten. The Queen looked remarkably well. She wore the order of the garter, a pink brocade dress, shot with gold, and the Prince looked calmly and proudly happy. The Duke of Wellington, who this day completed his eighty second year had been there nearly two hours before, and the commissioners and all the officials and ladies of the household surrounding the throne, presented a scene of extraordinary splendor. The National Anthem was performed, and the music produced a most delightful effect in the glass building. Prince Albert, with the commissioners, presented himself before the Queen and read the report as described in the official programme. The Archbishop of Canterbury then delivered the prayer of inauguration, which was followed by the Halletujah Chorus of Baudel, under the direction of Sir Henry R. Bishop. The effect of this was most striking, and the voices of the choristers were here in the fullest perfection. A procession was then formed of a most interesting character. The procession marched along the British or western nave and then recrossing the transept, passed on to the eastern extremity, the United States end. At every step new acclamations arose; the music from the various organs saluted the procession as it passed, and thus every person in the building was enabled to see every individual in the cortege. The Queen then declared "the Exhibition opened" and the trumpets and artillery announced the fact to the countless multitudes outside. The whole auditory arose to give a parting cheer, or series of deafening acclamations of joy, and the ceremony terminated by the retirement of the Queen, who went back to Buckingham Palace in the state in which she had come. The multitudes in the park were countless. I looked through the glass window, and a sea of human beings surrounded me on all sides. Every body was in good humor, and all the superstitious presentiments of mischief which had been termed in the imagination of some minds, were wholly calmed. Never was so great a spectacle inaugerated with so much good order and tranquillity, in the presence of perhaps half a million of human beings.

The Queen having left the building, the company began to circulate. Along the nave, both towards the east and the west, there is a succession of gigantic statuary in marble, iron, bronze, and zinc, the latter of a very remarkable character. Almost the first object which arrests your attention is the Koh-i-neer diamond secured in a strong cage of iron, richly glided, and by a contrivance, this precious jewel, which is placed on a small pedestal, sinks at night into the strong iron chest upon which the cage rests, so that it is safe and secure night and day.—Crowds flock round the jewel to admire its size and brilliancy. Along the whole length of the building, in the centre of the nave, is placed a succession of most striking objects, relieved by the statuary. There are models of bridges and towns all of elaborate execution, and among them the model of Liverpool holds the foremost rank. There are besides enormous telescopes, exquisite models of machinery, small chapels to exhibit specimens of stained glass, the Acis and Galatea fountains, the American statues of the Wounded Indian and the Greek Slave, the statue of Shakespeer, and the crystal fountain in the centre of the transept, presenting a very graceful and striking appearance. Perhaps the the whole world has never furnished such a remarkable series of attractive objects as are contained in the nave alone.

I was prepared to find that the articles from the United States would fall short of the other parts of the Exhibition, from the statement put forth that they had demanded more room than they could adequately fill. Through the exertions of Mr. Riddle, the vacant space has been filled up, and although this division is not so crowded as the British side, it contains a national collection highly interesting. Their cereals and raw materials are very striking. Their mineral department is also very full. The carriages were not the least honorable part of their collection. A series of maps prepared for certain lectures at the missionary meetings, were admirable, and greatly surpassed those of a similar character in our national and public schools. It is, perhaps, invidious to single out individual exhibitors, but I must say that the zeal and energy with which the representatives of Messrs. Laddy & Phillips, of Philadelphia, the saddlers, and of Messrs. Cornelius & Co., the lamp makers, of the same city came forward volutarily and pressed upon my notice their respective manufactures, made me feel that our English exhibitors must look well to their laurels, or such smartness will infallibly outrival them in almost any branch of trade.—The exhibition of Daguerreotypes is excellent.

Leaving the division of the United States, you enter the great department of the Zollverein, on the north and south sides. The collection of machinery and manufactures, of the most varied description, presesents a thousand objects of the highest interest. Russia occupies a small department on the south, and this scarcely complete; but, to compensate for this, Austria also, on the north and south sides, exhibits a variety of products which place her in a very honorable position in the Exhibition. All the Austrian exhibitors are dressed in a simple Austrian green uniform, with coats fastened at the breast with a long clasp, inscribed "Austria," so that the general effect is admirable. Hurrying through Holland and Belgium, you enter the extensive region of France, which, when complete, will be very beautiful, and worthy the taste and skill of that great country. Switzerland and Brali, with Italy and Spain on the north, succeed, and are followed by Greece, Persia, Egypt, and Turkey. The unfortunate delay in the arrival of Turkish steamer, with their objects, renders their division incomplete but the space abutting upon the transept having been appropriated to the ambassdors, and ladies of rank who had the entree, the deficiency was admirably concealed. Crossing the transept, you enter the British East Indies, which presents a very beautiful scene. On the south you then arrived at a square devoted to Canada, the West Indies, and the Australian colonies. The articles from these interesting spots in the British empire are all admirably illustrative of their rich productions. The minerals, the raw materials, afford abundant scope for study both the merchant and the philosopher.—A beautiful little square of mediæval treasures next attracts large crowds, who pass on to the sculpture room. You are now, on both sides the nane, fairly in the British domestic latitudes.—Whilst agricultural implements occupy the whole remaining length of the extreme south, paper and printing, and machinery in motion, fill up the extreme north; the front of the south side being devoted to Birmingham goods, furniture, Sheffield goods, woolen and mixed fabrics, flax from Ireland, and printed fabrics of Manchester, London, and Glasgow. The front of the north corresponding side presents a succession of departments, with carriages, some of them of the most exquisite construction, mineral manufactures, and marine engines, flanked on the front with paper goods, furniture, furs, leather, and cotton. We have now arrived at the west end, where crowds are seen surrounding the model of Liverpool, which is at this spot in the nave. On the outside of the building are statues, columns, specimens of coal, obelisks and a vast variety of architectural and building processes, with a detached building, whence the steam motive power is derived. I have only passed thro' the ground floor, not having said a single word respecting the contents of the gallery. This I shall defer until next week. I may state that there is but one gallery which runs the whole circuit of the building, and spacious quadrangular courts are cut out of the building, and spacious quadrangular courts are cut out of gallery, down into which the spectator may look and the objects are so arranged as to produce the most picturesque effect imaginable. It is computed that £50,000 were received by the sale of the season tickets, which, added to the sums subscribed, will make about £130,000. The cost of the executive will be it is said, about £200,000, at least. There is scarce a doubt but that sufficient funds will be raised to make it entire self-supporting.

The American Contributions.—The display was on Saturday all but completed. Over the eastern entrance—a position which commands the main vista—are now emblazoned the American national arms—the eagle, with the motto "E pluribus unum," covering the stripes and stars, (now numbering thirty-one, the new planet California being represented.) The placing of the national arms of the States in a position so preminent, and the large extent of space claimed and allowed, prove that there was an intention on the part of that country to contribute much more largely to the Exhibition than they have done, and the vast difference between the purpose and the act is a matter to be regretted, whatever may have been the cause. Since our previous visit however, several additions have been made. The most prominent of these is a winter sleigh, such as is used in the Northern States. It is an elegant carriage for four persons, and so comfortable looking that one almost longs to be lolling on its silken cushions, to be carried across North American snows, cheered by the merry peal of silver bells which hang on its dash-board. Some remarkably light and handsome wheel carriages have also been added to this department of foreign industry, all of them deserving attention, and evincing that, in locomotive machinery, the taste and ingenuity of the American builders is quite equal to those of their European competitors.

Large Five Octave Melodeon Piano Style,	100 00

THE subscribers take this method of calling the attention of the public to a New Musical Instrument as yet but little known to the musical world, viz: Prince & Co's improved Melodeon.

For the benefit of those residing at a distance, and consequently unable to inspect the Melodeon before purchasing, we will endeavor to give a short description of the instrument.

The cases are made of Rose Wood, and are as handsomely finished as any Piano Forte.—The Key Board is precisely the same as the Piano or Organ, and the tone, (which is very beautiful,) closely resembles that of the Flute Stop of the Organ—the notes speak the instant the keys are touched, and will admit of the performance of as rapid passages as the Piano.—The Pedal on the left is intended for a swell, and with which the most beautiful effects can be produced. The Pedal directly under the instrument supplies the wind, and works so easily that a child can manage it without exertion. The Bellows, which is something entirely new, and for which a Patent was granted in December, 1845,) is a reversed or exhaustion Bellows, and it is this, in a measure, which produces the peculiar tone. The instrument can be immediately made portable without detaching any part, the Bellows receding into the body of instrument, and the legs folding under and springing to their places, leaves the whole in a compact form. Each instrument has a packing case secured by lock and key.

The volume of tone is equal to that of a small organ, and by means of the swell, may be increased or diminished at the pleasure of the performer; it is sufficiently loud for small churches, and is well calculated for a parlor instrument. Hundreds have examined them, and all have been loud in their praise; but the best evidence of their merit is the rapid sale. But it is a new instrument—a new invention, and is yet but little known in the musical world, and it is for this reason that we call to it the attention of all lovers of Music, believing that there are thousands who would lose no time in securing one, were they aware of the existence of such an instrument, and the low price at which it could be obtained.

The following letter from LOWELL MASON, Boston, to G. P. Reed, we are permitted to use:

Mr. Geo. P. Reed, No. 17 Tremont Row, Boston, Mass.

Dear Sir: At your request I have examined one of the Melodeons manufactured by Messrs. Geo. Prince & Co., of Buffalo. I think the Instrument in all respect equal, and some respects superior, to any others of similar kind which I have seen, and in particular with respect to quality of tone and promptness of touch, or action of the reeds, by which quick passages may be performed with a certain and distinct articulation of tones. An instrument of this kind is the best substitute for an Organ in Church Music with which I am acquainted.

LOWELL MASON.

Boston, Mass., Sept. 25, 1849.

☞ Just published,

"Prince's Complete Instructor For the Improved Melodeon,"

to which is added favorite Airs, Voluntaries, and Chants, arranged expressly for this instrument. Price 75 Cents.

In consequence of the great success which has attended the introduction of Prince & Co's Melodeons, numerous imitators have sprung up in different parts of the country—offering instruments under the same name, and in outward appearance resembling them. We would therefore caution the public to be on their guard, and examine those made by Prince & Co. before purchasing. Many improvements applied are exclusively our own, and being the original manufacturers, our experience has enabled us to produce Instruments which a discerning public have unanimously pronounced superior to any thing of the kind hitherto manufactured. Many of the most eminent Musicians of the cities of N. York and Boston have volutarily given testimonials as to the high character of our Instruments, which can be seen on application.

All orders from a distance will be promptly attended to, and a written guaranty of their durability will be given if required.

GEORGE A. PRINCE & CO.

The subscriber is appointed agent for the sale of the Melodeons, and will furnish them here at manufacturers' Prices, by which the cost of transportation will be saved. One of the Instruments may be inspected at his residence on Berry Street. T. TIGAR.

20,000 Lbs. Wool Wanted

AT THE

FORT WAYNE

Woolen Manufactory

RUDISILL & WOLKE return their thanks to the public for the liberal patronage they have received, and respectfully inform them that they have made large additions to their Machinery of the newest and best kinds, and having obtained skillful workmen from the east, are now prepared to take any quantity of wool to [illegible] the direct and manufacture it into

CLOTHS, Cassimeres, Sattinetts Flannels, Blankets, &c.

warranted as good, if not better, than any other establishment in the west. Wool will be worked on shares, or taken in pay for goods. They have also on hand which they offer for sale or in exchange for wool on the most liberal terms.

4,000 YARDS OF WOOLEN GOODS

WOOL CARDING.

We have in addition to our usual machines, procured of J. Fassett & Son, New York, the MAMMOTH CARDING MACHINE, and are now ready for Carding. The Mammoth Machine will supersede all other Carding Machines in the western country. It is so constructed as to throw out Four Rolls at once, and do it much superior to any common machine, and will card 400 lbs. of Rolls in 12 hours, so that we are at present prepared to

Card 600 to 700 lbs. Rolls in 12 Hours, and can accommodate any and every person on the shortest notice. Persons to expect good rolls must have their wool well cleaned and free from burrs, and to every eight pounds of wool one pound of clean lard, otherwise the price of lard will be charged extra. All wool brought in the above condition will be warranted to be well carded. Price for Carding is 3 cents per pound; wool will be received in pay for carding and price will be according to quality. Directions should be given when wool is brought whether the pay is to be Cash or Wool. Persons from a distance can have their Wool Carded immediately.

CLOTH DRESSING AND DYEING.

We are also prepared to do any amount Country Cloth Dressing and dyeing, on the shortest notice, and in the best workmanlike manner.

WANTED.—25 bbls. Soap; also, 500 lbs Lard, for which the highest price will be paid in Goods.

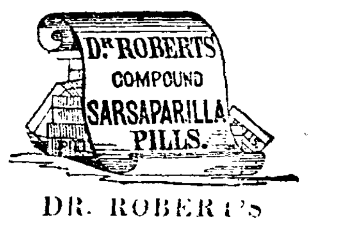
The Best & Cheapest Family Medicine in the World.



DR. ROBERTS'S

Compound Sarsaparilla Pills.

An alterative, Tonic, Diuretic and mild Cathartic—Price 25 cents per box, containing 50 Pills.

Each box contains fifty pills, which makes them as cheap again as any other standard pill, and four times cheaper, and warrented much superior in the cure of various diseases to any of the Syrup mixtures sold; besides being a more convenient and proper form for use.

THE astonishing success which has attended the use of Dr. Roberts' Compound Sarsaparilla Pills is proof abundant and conclusive that they are truly and that they will cure all curable diseases, quicker and more pleasantly than any other medicine ever known.

Nature's own Remedies,

The Pills are principally an alterative medicine, (their basis being the solid extract of Sarsaparilla, prepared in a superior manner,) but sufficiently cathartic to gently assist nature, without purging unnecessarily, which make them peculiarly adapted to weak and enfeebled persons, invigorating and strengthening the body, purifying the system, producing new rich blood and a healthy action of the stomach and liver.

They are acknowledged by our ablest physicians to be not only unexceptionable, but efficacious in the highest degree and as a general

Family Medicine Unequalled.

The Compound Sarsaparilla Pills are used for the permanent cure of these diseases which arise from an impure state of the blood, and morbid secretions of the liver and stomach, viz, erysipelas, scrofula or king's evil, ulcers, scald head, obstinate cutaneous eruptions, blotches, biles, pimples, sore, weak or inflamed eyes, glandular swellings, rheumatic affections, pains in the bones and joints, dropsy, dispepsia, asthma, diarrhoea and dysentery, coughs, colds, consumption, when caused by capillary obstruction of the lungs in persons of scrofulous constitutions, inflammation of the lungs, influenza, indigestion, headache, jaundice, fever and ague, chill fevers and fevers in general and nervous debility, and diseases arising from an injudicious use of mercury, and whenever medicine is required to invigorate and purify the system.

They are a purely vegetable compound, and may be used by persons of all ages. They are pleasant to the palate, and produce no nauseau, uneasiness or griping in their operation. Hundreds of certificates could be given of those who have used them with great benefit.

We ask no person to take our word as to the merits of the medicine, but to call on the agent and purchase a box, and if on trial it does not give the most perfect satisfaction they can return the box and receive the money paid for the same. Purchasers will be particular to ask for "Dr. Roberts' Compound Sarsaparilla Pills," and observe that the green wrapper on each box has a fac simile of the signature of Jes. Roberts, M. D., and C. P. Fay, and to purchase none others.

All applications for agencies and letters on the subject of the medicine must be addressed, post paid to C. P. Fay, Owego, N. Y. HUGH B. REED, Sole Agent.

"Cast thy Bread upon the waters!"

This is one of the most emphatic injunctions of Holy writ, and it will doubtless be gratifying to our readers to know that the text is in sentiment precisely the counsel and earnest advice of the far famed and truly fortunate Lottery Broker

Every Drawing of the Lottery announces the glad tidings that, "Gold! yellow, glittering, precious Gold!"

still continues to be garnered by the Correspondents of this well known and popular House.

Triumphant Success.

Did we not act upon the principle of contributing the "greatest good to the greatest number," we should now complacently "rest on our oars," satisfied with the few thousand Correspondents who "drink deep" of the smiles of Fortune at our office, and solace ourselves with the reflection that we have already earned fame enough to make ours one of the "immortal names that were not born to die," but in this progressive age we must keep pace with the times, and to do this we again present to the readers of this paper the

Schemes for May;

unequalled for their Dazzling Brilliancy, never surpassed for their well diversified chances and equal in their liberal arrangement to any that ever preceded them. If we eclipse in this "rosy month" our past luck in distributing prizes that will excel in Magnitude and Splendor those of the previous months, we only go with the "progressive current," and "who can control his fate?"

No Risk, No Gain!

Is a self-evident fact, no less comprehended and acknowledged as a truism by "Christian, Jew and Barbarian," than is the imperishable renown won by twenty years devotion to the cause of human happiness by the old established and truly fortunate Lottery Agent

P. M. PYFER,

CLEVELAND, OHIO.

TRY YOUR LUCK!

One trial can do no hurt, but may realize an Independent Fortune. Think of this, ye who toil from "early dawn to the going down of the sun" for a bare subsistence, and try your luck. SPENCER HOUSE,
FORT WAYNE, IA.

THE subscribers (late of Ohio,) have leased, for a term of years, the above establishment, which is undergoing a course of thorough repair and renovation, as well as enlargement, and to which they invite the attention of the travelling public. From their experience in the business, and their determination to spare no pains or efforts, they flatter themselves that they will be able to keep a house that will compare, without disparagement, with any hotel in the western country.

They have been fortunate in securing the services of cooks of tried excellence, for the culinary department of the establishment; and their stables will at all times be in charge of careful and trustworthy hostlers.

Knowing that to please their patrons is the foundation of success, they will endeavor to give to their house the character of a pleasant home, to all who may favor them with their custom.

A few pleasant rooms can be furnished to permanent boarders.

Their charges will be moderate and suited to the times.

The above establishment is located on Calhoun street, opposite the public square, and in the immediate vicinity of all the public offices.

THE "GREAT"
Indiana Land Agency
OUT DONE!

THE undersigned has been appointed an agent to sell all of the lands in Northern Indiana owned by the "Knightstown and Shelbyville Rail Road Company."

As this company is successfully operating on the High pressure system on their road, they have resolved to put their lands on the Low; and have authorised sales to be made at Two Dollars per acre, on five years' credit; thus giving every one a rare chance to own a farm.

Emigrants can be accommodated with four or five sections in one locality if desired.

The undersigned has also on sale large tracts of other lands in this, and adjoining counties; and is giving better bargains, and more of them, than is generally known; as he is entirely too modest to puff himself, and is not disposed to pay any one to do it for him.

Valuable Lands for Sale.

THE undersigned have on hand a large quantity of the choicest LANDS in Northern Indiana; Improved and unimproved, located in the counties of Allen, Adams, Wells, Huntington, Whitley, Noble, Steuben and DeKalb, and offer them

For Sale on the Most Reasonable Terms.

They have also a number of improved and unimproved LOTS in this city, which they will dispose of on terms that cannot fail to suit purchasers. Persons desirous of

Purchasing Lands or Town Lots, will do well to give them a call before making arrangements elsewhere.

Huff's Pulmonary Balsam
TRIUMPHANT,

AFTER the skill of several physicians had been baffled for ten years, Notice the date of this letter.

VERNON, Ia., Dec. 5, 1849.

MR. C. ESY—Dear Sir: I take pleasure in certifying that I have used Huff's Pulmonic Balsam for Coughs, Colds, &c., with the happiest effect.

My mother was cured of a severe Pulmonary disease, which had baffled the skill of several physicians, FOR TEN YEARS, with TWO BOTTLES of the BALSAM.

I regard it as one of the best medicines now in use for Pulmonic Complaints, and as such would recommend it.

Yours, truly, C. K. JOHNSON,
Editor & Proprietor of Vernon, Ia., Democrat.

The proprietor has so much confidence in the virtue and efficacy of this inestimable medicine, and it has proved entirely successful in so many desperate cases, that he

A Rare Speculation!

THE Undersigned offers a good opportunity to any one desirous purchasing a valuable Mill property, with a farm attached. The property is situated four miles from the city of Fort Wayne, and two miles above Fairfield & Freeman's mill, on the St. Mary's river. It is now improved with a good new and substantial Saw Mill, with a permanent dam—one of the best on the river; the supply of water is unfailing for the saw mill, and most of the year there is sufficiency for a grist mill. The saw mill is entirely new, and in first rate running order. There is attached to the mill 80 acres of rich bottom land, about 24 acres of which is under cultivation, and the remainder well timbered. Near the mill there is a good house, and a good well of water in the yard. Any number of logs can be purchased in the vicinity, and being handy to market, makes the situation altogether one of the most desirable ones in the country. My reason for offering it for sale is, that my son who has had charge of it is anxious to move to Iowa, and I am unable to attend to it. Terms made easy.—Call and see it.

Cash for 20,000 Bushels
OF WHEAT,
At the Empire Mills.

WE are prepared to pay CASH and HIGHEST PRICE for 20,000 bushel of good merchantable Wheat.

Farmers and Teamsters will save themselves much trouble and expense by driving directly up to the STONE MILLS and unloading; they will always get the highest price, and avoid the annoyance of being pestered by the sharkers and whipper snappers from the Stores, who now infest our streets and are such a bore to all who bring wheat to our market. We are not much given to boasting; but as some of our neighbors are talking of wanting 10,000 bushels of wheat we would inform wheat raisers that we can take in 20,000; as our Mill, besides being the best, is the biggest, the highest, and the strongest in the country. We have a convenient WAGON-YARD and STABLE, for teams coming to the Mill, and a HOUSE for the Teamsters; we always furnish feed for the horses, and occasionally throw in Supper and Breakfast for their drivers. This is nothing new with us—we have always thought it our duty to do so, and should not now mention it if our neighbors had not set the example.

We keep constantly on hand FLOUR OF THE BEST QUALITY and all kinds of Mill Stuff; and promptly grind every thing in the shape of Custom Work—always excepting White Oak Tan Bark, or the "face of the Poor

POETRY.

From the Journal of Commerce.

Mr. Editor:—We once heard this noble national hymn sung by a chorus of distinguished voices, to the air of "God Save the King," and we never heard anything finer. The last stanza, in particular, was rendered in a way which we shall never forget. We wish you would insert it in your columns, and use your influence to get it sung in all the gatherings of those who are conscientiously laboring to preserve untarnished the freedom which it celebrates. T.

AMERICA.

My Country! 'tis of thee,
Sweet land of liberty,
Of thee I sing;
Land where my fathers died,
Land of the Pilgrim's pride,
From every mountain side
Let freedom ring.

My native country, thee,
Land of the noble free,
Thy name I love;
I love thy rocks, and rills;
Thy woods and templed hills;
My heart with rapture thrills,
Like that above.

Let music swell the breeze
And ring from all the trees
Sweet freedom's song;
Let mortal tongues awake;
Let all that breathe partake;
Let rocks their silence break,
The sound prolong.

Our fathers' God! to thee,
Author of liberty;
To thee I sing.
Long may our land be bright,
With freedom's holy light;
Protect us by thy might,
Great God our King.

Fashion and Ladies Dress.

The present form of Ladies' dress, is the result of fashion; and therefore fashion alone can change it. That, it is beyond compare, inconvenient, cumbersome, absurd, and dangerous, cannot be denied. Whether it is comely or elegant, depends on no known law or fact, but upon fashion or custom. What we are accustomed to see in dress, looks well, and new froms and methods, for a time, (only a little time) looks odd and strange. The present style would have been scouted as ridiculous, in the day of corded skirts and balloon-sleeves as they would be now. No one can defend or apologize for the Dorothy-fail style of this season, which turns a lady into a street sweeper, and silks and brocades into a mop.—It is indescribly filthy and disgusting. There is no manner of doubt that it would be a great public blessing, if dame fashion should take it into her head (if she has a head) to banish the excess of skirts, but in length and number from the female wardrobe. Two or three is enough—the customary number, is six or eight too much. If they should reach to within six or eight inches of the ground, they would be long enough for all the purposes of tripping up their owners, and getting into the mud on rainy days. We go for the abridgement. We have been bothered to make up our mind what the "World Fair" would be good for, beliving it to be the most magnificent humbug the world ever saw. It occurs to us, however, that it mights be made the occasion of giving the fashion of female attire a set in the right direction. If her Majesty and female suit, the Duchess of Moneybags, the Countess Oldstock, Lady Here, and Madam Upstart, should adopt a more rational costume and appear at the Crystal Palace, the deed would be done. Instantly some millions of the sex, would be busy with the shears, clipping redundant skirts according to the lates fashion. We do not know any other good that Queens can be put to. If this reform is to go on, how far is it to be carried! that's the question. Men will take sides—there will be "the high party," and "the low party," or "the long or short party." We shall join neither, but stand upon the "national and truly conservative position" of half way between, (the knee and ankle.) This is our "compromise." From "a careful examination of a very extensive list of exchanges," and a very general correspondence "with informed gentlemen of moderate conservative views," we make no bones of venturing to express the rather—in fact very—decided opinion, that nine tenths of the people of this great Republic are with us upon the "half way between platform."—Buffalo Express.

THE TURKISH DRESS.—Quite an excitement was produced at the steamboat landing, day before yesterday, at the appearance of a couple of ladies wearing the short Turkish dress.—They were travelling in company with gentlemen, and were evidently people of cultivation. A revolution in female custome is undoubtedly in preparation. There surely can be nothing more ungraceful than the long, drabbling dresses which sweep the street wherever ladies move. As a matter of personal comfort, the Turkish dress must be most agreeable, in addition to its beauty. The chance would be great. At first, rather trying to the ladies to be sure, but it cannot be worse, nay, half as bad, as the transition from "balloon sleeves" to the close dress of the present day, or many other changes which Fashion brings about every few years. In point of beauty, no costume is equal to that of the Turkish. Its convenience is superior to all others.—Oswego Paper.

REVOLUTION AMONG THE PETTICOATS.—The ladies are on skirts of reform—or on a of skirts. Since Amin Bey came to this country, they have talked much of Turkish trousers and short robes. Two ladies have promenaded Broadway recently, in this Eastern style. Some, more daring, have gone a little father. They have taken to the frock coat and pantaloons. Mrs. Fanny Kemble, two years ago, set the example, on horseback—which has been followed by Miss Bloomer, of Seneca Falls, and others. Mrs. Swisshelm, also jumps into this style. In Syracuse it is quite the rage; and, in fact, in several parts of the country ladies of some distinction have put a foot forward in this reform, which transforms the female appearance completely. The question naturally arises, if these steps in this new evidence of progress are to be continued, what is to become of the old, cast off petticoats? We suggest that nothing better can be done than to catch the dandies throughout the country, and in Broadway particularly, and invest them with the old robes of prerogative. They will cut more of a swell than ever, in the furbelows and flounces of the ladies.—N. Y. Herald.

"SHORT DRESSES."—The ladies, in several of the western cities, have adopted the new, fashionable and convenient style of short dresses and Turkish trousers, fastened at the ankles—a style that is now as much abused by old fogies and antiquated maiden ladies, as "bustles" used to be, though with far less reason. On such a day as yesterday, when the streets were in a dirty condition in consequence of the rain, the new dress would be most convenient to our lady friends, who would not be obliged, as they now too often are, to bedrabble their silks and delaines in the mud so disgracefully. Let old maides talk against them cynical editors sneer, and rude boys and big dirty corner loafers abuse them, but short dresses and Turkish trousers will eventually come in vogue.

Most women hate each other; they are misogynits without knowing it.

Sinking of a 'Diving Ship.'

An experiment of a new means of destroying ships of war, which was prepared during the late Holstein difficulties, terminated disastrously and almost tragically, near Kiel, in Danish Holstein. The Boston Advertiser translates from the Illustrerte Zeitung, published at Leipsic, the following account of the enterprise and its results:

The machine was invented by an under officer in the Schleswig Holstein army, by the name of Bauer, and was intended to be used in blowing up the Danish ships, which, during the last war were operating against Schleswig Holstein. Having perfected his plan, Bauer laid it before the Government of Schleswig Holstein, and asked for their aid in building his vessel. But they not having faith in the practicability of the plan, he was compelled to turn for assistance to rich individuals, and succeeded in obtaining by subscription in the Schleswig Holstein army, a sufficient sum to enable him to undertake the building of his ship. In this way the vessel was built at Kiel, and completed in December of that year. This wonderful ship was launched in the presence of a great number of spectators at the port of Stapel. In form it resembles a common yacht, except that it is much narrower. A tube is placed in the fore part of it which is provided with very thick windows and a trap door, for the entrance and exit of the men necessary to work the ship; the visible apparatus consists of a pump for lifting and sinking the ship, and a screw by which it is propelled. There are also in the fore part two gloves of gutta percha, protected by which the director of the diving ship attaches the powder magazine to the vessel intended to be blown up. This is ignited from a distance by means of a galvanic wire. The sides as well as the deck of the vessel are of iron. An exact description of the machinery cannot be given, as the inventer very naturally does not wish to make it public.

On the first trial the sides of the ship, as well as the pumps, proved quite too weak, a difficulty which was early discovered, but which was caused by want of funds. The first trial was successful, however, as Bauer took care not to let his vessel sink too deep, being aware that at a depth of 30 feet, his ship would inevitably be destroyed by the pressure of the water. The particular object of the inventor, was the blowing up of the Danish ships of war, was prevented at that time, as their ships left the harbor on the approach of the frost.

On the first of February last, Bauer made another trial of his vessel, and this time he was not so fortunate even as before. He descended, accompanied by two volunteers from the Schleswig Holstein Navy, at nine o'clock in the morning, under water, and did not appear again with his ship. After the boats which had accompanied him had waited a long time for the reappearance of the ship, cannon were fired, in the hope of causing it to rise. Its place was found after some search by dropping a lead, and the cries for help of the submerged men were heard from the depths of the water. All possible attempts were now made to lift the diving ship, but they proved vain. Strong iron chains and cables were sunk in the water, and after long labor, some of them were actually made fast by Bauer, but the heavy ship could not be lifted upwards, and the multitudes from the city who had assembled in boats, considered the rescue of the three unfortunate men as impossible. What Bauer had dreaded had taken place. The pumps, when the vessel had reached the depth of thirty feet, worked badly, and it was foreseen that as they sank deeper they would be destroyed by the pressure of the water, or at least became useless. What was dreaded was not long delayed—a crash followed, and the three submerged men looked upon their fate as certain. This was the most fearful moment, according to Bauer's account, of the whole six hours which he and his companions spent under water.

Fortunately the deck of the ship and the side walls remained uninjured, although an opening was made in the lower part, by which the water slowly entered—a circumstance which saved the three men from certain death. The attempts to lift the ship by means of chains and cables were, as we have remarked, given up after long and vain exertions, and nothing remained to Bauer and his companions but their own efforts. The two strongest men tried to open the upper trap door, but in vain; the pressure of the water was too strong to allow them to lift it as much as an inch, and there remained but one hope of salvation, and this was also a severe trial of their patience. It was with difficulty that Bauer persuaded his companions to keep quiet, and avoid all useless waste of their strength. He could not make them satisfied with his plan, which was to wait quietly the rising of the water, till the pressure of the air caused by this rising would be strong enough to open the trap door. With the greatest coolness, Bauer wrapped himself up in his cloak, and remained seated in the upper part of the ship, that he might not be chilled by the cold water. When the ship was so far filled with water that the three divers stood in it up to their necks, and it was almost impossible for them to breathe the condensed air, Bauer gave the strongest of his companions the signal to make an attempt to open the door.

He was able now to lift it with ease, and was carried in the same moment by the pressure of the air up out of the opening and thrown upon the surface of the water. Bauer and his two companions, who were almost fainting, naturally followed, and all three reached the surface of the water in safety, where they were immediately received with loud hurrahs from the assembled multitude, and taken into the boats. Breathing in the heavy air, and remaining in the icy cold water had so exhausted them that the two companions of Bauer were obliged to be sent to the Hospital, but he needed but a few hours repose to be entirely recovered.

The heavy diving ship, which weighed seventy thousand pounds, still lies forty feet deep in the water, and it is very doubtful whether it will ever be got up. The invention, however, is a valuable one, although the first trial has failed in consequence of the defective construction of the ship. In building another ship, which Bauer is still dispose to undertake, he hopes to remedy these defects, and to be able to prove that his invention will be found useful in carrying on naval warfare.

The German paper from which the above narrative is taken contains an engraving of the Diving Ship at Kiel, before its submersion.

Advantages of Railroads.—In the Scioto Gazette we find the following clincher in relation to the advantages of railroads, in enhancing the value of property adjacent thereto:

"A Railroad Fact.—A friend, who resides in Columbus, told us that he opposed subscription, by Franklin county, to the C., C. & C. railroad, two years ago. "And now, last week," he added, "I refused $750 cash, for a town lot, for which I was asking $500, when I voted against the subscription. So wise wise was I. The people went ahead, and carried subscription in spite of me, and others like me."

He farther told us, for the money subscribed, by Columbus and Franklin county, to railroads the citizens had got value back over and over."

South Carolina Convention.—In the Convention this morning a minority report, signed by three of the committee of twenty-one, was presented. A resolution, by Mr. Orr, was offered, pleading the Convention to abide by the actions of the Legislature of the State as to whether secession shall take place with or without co-operation of other States.

A debate of considerable length ensued. No new arguments were adduced or brought forward, but all concurred in the wrongs as in the remedy, differing only as to the time and manner, but determined, whatever may be the course of action agreed upon, to support it cheerfully and unitedly.

The gentlemen composing the minority are Messrs. Butler, Orr and Barnwell. The latter considered that if South Carolina separated from the Southern States, the separation would be final, and that it would prove detrimental to the institution of slavery.

The question upon the adoption of the report of the committees, will be taken to-morrow at 9 o'clock. It will be adopted by a large majority. Mr. Rhett will probably speak upon the question to-morrow.

CHARLESTON, May 9.

State Convention Adjourned—Secession Resolution passed!—The State's Rights Convention has adjourned sine die, after an exciting session. The address and resolutions reported by the majority committee have been unanimously adopted. They declare in favor of unconditional secession at a future day, without reference to the co-operation of other Southern States; and look to the Legislature to assert its sovereign power. A central committee of nine members was appointed to carry out the resolutions of the Convention. The convention adjourned sine die, with prayer.—Its final action created intense excitement here, and serious apprehensions for the future.

CHARLESTON, May 9.

The address was unanimously adopted, together with the following resolutions!

First—With or without co-operation for secession.

Second—That co operation is not worth the sacrifice of a unnelanous submission.

Third and eighth—Secession is essential to sovereignty.

Fourth the Convention is looking to the Legislature to exert its sovereign power.

The Convention formed itself into a Central Association for the State, preserving the present organization of delegates and members until new appointments. Each association is entitled to double the State district representation. To form the Central Committee, nine distinguished delegates were appointed.

The Right of Seceding from the Union.

It is very remarkable that, at the moment when a convention is about to assemble in one of the States for the purpose of deciding whether it will withdraw from the Union, a document contemporaneous with the formation of the constitution, and emanating from the chief of its authors, has come to light, which shows, beyond all doubt, that the idea of the right of secession was considered at the time of the adoption of the constitution by the several States, and abandoned as defeating the whole purpose of the constitution itself. It is strange that any one should require an argument to establish this, for it seems to us to result necessarily from the nature of the compact itself—but the opportune publication of the document which we refer to serves to show that the provident and far seeing fathers of the republic did not overlook this danger, and intended to provide against it. The following correspondence between Hamilton and Madison has just seen the light, for the first time, and the Fayetteville Observer, by whom it has been produced, deserves the thanks of the country for giving it publicity at this season. The language of Mr. Madison, in the last of the letters here quoted, is as explicit as it was possible to make it. New York wished to come into the Union with a reservation of a right to withdraw. No, said the father of the government. "THE CONSTITUTION REQUIRES AN ADOPTION IN TOTO AND FOREVER." FOREVER! Illustrious sage!! His vast soul would be satisfied with nothing but a government reared to last through all time. He knew that to concede the right to each State to withdraw at pleasure, was remitting the States to the very perils of the old confederacy against which it was the purpose of the new constitution to guard them—and he resisted such a concession as the introduction of the seed of quick and certain mortality into the heart of the new government. He regarded the constitution and the Union as perpetual and immortal. He agreed that the constitution should provide that new States might join the Union—but he refused that it should contain a permission to any State to go out of the Union. He joyfully uttered in the adoption of the provision whereby the whole continent, or more, might come in under its broad egis, and partake of its protection and its blessing; but he sternly refused to allow that any part of its once acquired territory should be lessened by voluntary withdrawal. He cared not how many stars might be added to the emblazonry of the gorgeous ensign of the republic—but, once there, they were never to aspire to any other sphere, or any other orbit:

Hamilton to Madison.

JULY 8, 1788.

My Dear Sir: I felicitate you sincerely on the event in Virginia, but my satisfaction will be allayed if I discover too much facility in the business of amendment making. I fear the system will be wounded in some of its vital parts by too general a concurrence in some very injudicious recommendations. I allude more particularly to the power of taxation.—The more I consider requisition in any shape, the more I am out of humor with it. We yesterday passed through the Constitution. To-day some definite proposition is to be brought forward, but what we are at a loss to judge. We have good reason to believe that our opponents are not agreed, and this affords some grounds of hope. Different things are thought of—conditions precedent or previous amendments; conditions subsequent, or the proposition of amendments, upon condition that if they are not adopted within a limited time, the State shall be at liberty to withdraw from the Union; and lastly, recommendatory amendments. In either case constructive declarations will be carried as far as possible. We will go as far as we can in the latter without invalidating the act, and will concur in rational recommendations. The rest for our opponents. We are informed there has been a disturbance in the city of Albany, on the 4th of July, which has occasioned bloodshead. The Anti-Federalists were the aggressors, and the Federalist's the victors. Thus stand our accounts at present. We trust, however, the matter has passed over, and tranquility been restored.

Yours, affectionately,
A. HAMILTON.

Hamilton to Madison.

POUGHKEEPSIE, Saturday, July, 1788.

I thank you, my dear sir, for yours by the post. Yesterday I communicated to Duer our situation, which I presume he will have communicated to you. It remains exactly the same. No further question having been taken, I fear the footing I mentioned to Duer is the best upon which it can be placed; but every thing possible will yet be attempted to bring the party from that stand to an unqualified ratification. Let me know your idea upon the possibility of our being received on that plan. You will understand that the only qualification will be the reservation of a right to recede, in case our amendments have not been decided upon in one of the modes pointed out by the Constitution within a certain number of years, perhaps five or seven. If this can, in the first instance, be admitted as a ratification, I do not fear any further consequences. Congress will, I presume, recommend certain amendments to render the structure of the Government more secure. This will satisfy the more considerate and honest opposers of the Constitution, and with the aid of them will break up the party. Yours, affectionately,

A. HAMILTON.

Madison to Hamilton.

NEW YORK, Sunday Evening.

My Dear Sir: Yours of yesterday is this instant come to hand, and I have but a few minutes to answer it. I am sorry that your situation obliges you to listen to propositions of the nature you described. My opinion is, that a reservation of a right to withdraw, if amendments be not decided on under the form of the Constitution within a certain time, is a conditional ratification; that it does not make New York a member of the new Union, and consequently that she could not be received on that plan. Compacts must be reciprocal; this principle would not in such a case be preserved. The Constitution requires an adoption in toto and forever. It has been so adopted by the other states. An adoption for a limited time would be as defective as an adoption of some of the articles only. In short, any condition whatever must vitiate the ratification. What the new Congress, by virtue of the power to admit new states, may be able and disposed to do in such case, I do not inquire, as I suppose that is not the material point at present. I have not a moment to add more than my fervent wishes for your success and happiness.—The idea of reserving a right to withdraw was started at Richmond, and considered as a conditional ratification, which was itself abandoned as worse than a rejection. Yours,

JAMES MADISON, JR.

Going into Debt and Going into Secession.—While some of the Southern States are arranging to leave the Union they are also arranging to make a levy upon the finances of some of their Northern brethern. For instance, one of the New York papers says that North Carolina and corporations within the State are now in the market for about $1,000,000. The State wants $50,000, of which $10,000 is intended to pay an installment on a plank road, and $40,000 to meet the existing debt of the State. The Deep River Company wants $54,000; the town of Wilmington $100,000, to pay its subscription to the Manchester Railroad, and the Manchester Railroad Company $600,000 on a mortgage of all its property.

True, North Carolina is not as fanatical in disunion notions as is her sister, but there are a good many of her people preaching secession and a Southern Confederacy. Under such circumstances asking for money from the North looks a good deal like getting into debt and then running away.—Cin Enq.

The Appalling Occurrence at Danville.—The Lewisburgh Chronicle of Wednesday gives the particulars of the injury to the Methodist Church at Danville, by lightning, on Sunday last:

The congregation was kneeling in prayer, just before the sacrament was to be administered. There were no previous indications of a storm, except a sprinkle of rain, and a cloud which seemed to be gathering in a northerly direction. The steeple was first struck, and much shattered. After reachin the main building, the electric fluid divided into two seperate currents—one passing through the ceiling and along the chain by which one of the lamps was suspended, (both of which latter were demolished,) directly down into the midst of the crowded congregation, tearing up the floor and pews considerably, and instantly killing a Mrs. Pensyl, and inflicting alarming injuries upon her sister, Miss Vastine, and eight or nine others, mostly females, besides stunning and otherwise partially affecting many other persons. The ladies' dresses were much torn as well as set on fire, and in some instances ripped completely open to the flesh by the force of the terrific bolt. Mrs. Pensyl's person bore no external marks of injury, but most of a the others were scorched and discolored to a greater or less extent. The other current passed out through the brick wall by the front door, tearing off the facings and prostrating a young man by the name of Jones, who was just at that moment in the act of entering. The lightning struck his right shoulder, tore his right boot to fragments, and blistered his flesh from shoulder to heel so badly that the skin peeled off when his clothes were removed.

Our informant a gentleman of this place, who was in the chapel at the time, says that it was the most appalling scene of consternation and distress he ever witnessed.

The chapel is a new building, and the entire elevation of the steeple, or dome, is about 80 feet, and no lightning rod; though we understand one had been contracted for, and was expected to be put up in the course of the summer.

We learn by a gentleman from Danville last evening, that the injured persons were all in a hopeful way for recovery.

A Short Sentence.—That notorious old evil-doer, familiarly known to man, woman, and child through Southern Michigan, as "Sile Doty" was brought up for sentence a few days ago, before his Honor Judge Pratt. Pratt surveyed the prisoner a few moments severely, in order to impress him with a becoming sense of his situation, after which he addressed to him a severe lesson upon his past transgressions and wicked ways; having concluded which, and the prisoner having meekly intimated that he had nothing to say in mitigation of sentence, Judge P. addressed him thus:

"Doty, how old are you?"

"Fifty-three, your honor."

"Doty, the enormity of your offence demands that you be sentenced to the State Prison for twenty years. But, Doty, we are reminded by the words of Holy Writ, that the days of a men's years are three score and ten—I shall, therefore, in clemency towards you, and in being guided by the scriptural limit of human life, sentence you the State Prison for only seventeen years!"

Doty was almost overwhelmed with a sense of his deep obligation to the clemency of the judge.—Detroit Advertiser.

The expected increase in the Royal Family of England will not take place, it is now said. It has been postponed, for some reason or other—probably on account of the World's Fair.

Wheat and Corn in Indiana.

The census tables returned by the Marshall contain some valuable statistics in regard to the productions of the state.

The north is emphatically the wheat growing region, embracing all that portion of the state lying on the upper Wabash, and the St. Joseph's of Michigan. La Porte county produces the largest amount of wheat of all the counties in the state. Allen county stands second on the list, and Elkhart third. The production of these counties was as follows for 1849.

Laporte county,	201,156	Bushels.
Allen "	189,413	"
Elkhart "	175,211	"

The other northern wheat growing counties produced as follows:

Cass county,	109,449	Bushels,
Carroll "	127,266	"
Fulton "	72,154	"
Miami "	112,768	"
Wabas "	116,501	"
Huntington	76,749	"
Whitley "	16,600	"
Kosciusko "	116,381	"
Noble "	66,044	"
De Kalb "	76,744	"
Steuben "	72,732	"
LaGrange "	127,333	"
St. Joseph "	164,907	"
Marshall "	51,590	"
Porter "	70,816	"
Lake "	46,319	"

Making a total in nineteen counties of 2,022,186 bushels, or about one-third of the entire production of the state.

Every county produces wheat, but many in small quantities in proportion to the population. Jennings county is the heaviest producer south of the National Road, 167,610 bushels. Wayne, with a population of 25,900, produces 161,181 bushels; being less than St. Joseph with 10,955 inhabitants. The total product of the state is 6,457,965 bushels, being an increase over the census of 1840 of 2,408,590 bushels. The entire value of this crop is not less than four millions of dollars.

The great staple of Indiana, however, is Indian Corn, of which the entire product is 51,-119,568 bushels, worth on an average twenty cents per bushel, making a total valuation of $10,229,933 60. The bottom lands of the Wabash, White River, White Water and their numerous tributaries, are eminently adapted to the culture of corn, and this region embraces about three-fourths of the territory of the state.

The following thirteen counties raised over one million of bushels each:

Tippecanoe	1,790,000	bushels,
Rush	1,692,920	"
Wayne	1,391,312	"
Putnam	1,354,379	"
Montgomery	1,313,098	"
Morgan	1,201,485	"
Shelby	1,201,295	"
Marion	1,191,909	"
Parke	1,188,028	"
Madison	1,180,538	"
Decatur	1,144,507	"
Franklin	1,101,836	"
Bartholomew	1,091,326	"

Total 16,848,425 bushels, or nearly one third of the whole product of the State.

These statements are but faint outlines of what Indiana is capable of doing, or will do, when her numerous channels of commerce shall be completed, and the energies of her farmers are awakened and stimulated by remunerating prices. The corn crop alone has been doubled in the last ten years, and every year adds to the amount. Only one-fourth of the taxable lands of the state are yet under improvement.

We shall not pretend to estimate, at this time, what Indiana will be, but if she does not entitle herself to the appellation of Uncle Sam's Garden, she will certainly be his cornfield.—Indiana Statesman.

ANGELS AT A WEDDING.—La Roy Sunderland, the Spiritual Knocker, and Editor of the Spirit World, thus chronicles the marriage of his daughter:

Married, in this city, on the evening of the 22d inst., by Rev. Wm. M. Fernalan, Mr. William J. Stuart, and Miss Sarah Mercena Sunderland, (second daughter of the editor of this paper,) both of Boston. During the marriage ceremony the angels made sensible demonstrations of their joyful presence.

Nothing now. "The angels"—dear creatures!—always are "joyful" on such occasions, and are "sensible enough" enough to make the proper "demonstrations."

"Will you have this man to be your wedded husband?" A "sensible and joyful demonstration" is the most natural thing possible, in reply to such a question. How many are waiting to be the blessed angel, as a prominent actor in such a joyful scene, is known only to Him who formed both man and woman for the blissful companionship of husband and wife.—Mil. Dem.

Improved Horse Shoe.—We observe that among the English patents recently granted, is one taken out by Mr. Rodway, for an improved horse shoe, which is so constructed as to give the horse a secure foothold even upon a wooden pavement, or wet ground, while it obviates the necessity of frost-nailing, or calking, in frosty weather. It is more durable than the common shoe, and quite as cheap; and from the ease with which it can be adapted to the foot, so as, in point of fact, speaking metaphorically, to form a part of it, it prevents those numerous diseases which are the destruction of so much horse flesh. The improvement consists in grooving the bottom of the shoe in a peculiar manner. The nails are also sunk in grooves so as never to become loosened by wear.

Useful Hints. Cholic in horses is readily cured by tying a small piece of tobacco on the bit of the bridle. The cure is effected when the tobacco is dissolved in the saliva. We have seen horses cured in this way when swelled up badly and in great agony.

Never trim the hair from the ear of your horse. It is placed there by nature to protect the orifice and drum of the ear from insects, dirt and sudden changes of the weather.

Raising Quince Trees.—An intelligent cultivator of fruit has very successfully adopted the following practice for raising quince trees in the nursery. Instead of planting the cuttings of the desired variety into the soil, as by the usual method, he inserts each cutting as a graft into an apple root, precisely as in common root grafting. The cuttings commence growing rapidly at once, deriving as they do a full supply of nourishment from the root of the apple; and afterwards throwing out roots of their own, as they always do very freely, the apple root separates and dies, while the quince continues to flourish on its own roots. This is found to afford very handsome and thrifty young trees, and with much greater certainty than if raised simply by putting in the soil.

PITTSBURGH, May 7th.

Total Destruction of the Cathedral at Pittsburgh.—The Roman Catholic Church, the oldest and largest in this city, which was erected at a cost of $30,000, was discovered to be on fire at eleven o'clock yesterday morning, and was totally consumed. It contained a splendid organ, valued at 6,000, which was also consumed. There was about $5,000 insurance on the building. While the church was burning a man was discovered in the act of setting fire to the Bishop's residence adjoining.

Dem. Congressional Convention.

The Democratic Convention for the Tenth Congressional District will be held at Huntington on Wednesday, May 28th.

Our Railroad.—The engineers serveying the route of the Ohio and Indiana Railroad may be expected here in a week or two. The Delphos (Section Ten) Oracle of last Wednesday says: "The Engineers on the Ohio and Indiana Railroad are at work in this vicinity viewing the route. Onward this road is bound!"

Dreadful Storm—Inundation.—On Wednesday night and Thursday last, we were visited with the most severe storm ever experienced here. The rain fell in torrents, and a large part of the city was totally submerged with water, which rose to the height of four or five feet on some of the streets. It was with great difficulty that some families were rescued from their dwellings. Women might be seen wading waist-deep in the water carrying their children to a place of safety; boats were plying in the streets, and rafts of lumber and drift wood floating in every direction.

The injury to the corn crop in the country is incalculable—most of it is either washed out or rotted in the ground, and will have to be replanted.

During the storm the distillery was struck with lightning, but did not sustain any considerable damage. The spire of the Lutheran Church was also struck, and considerably shattered.

On Thursday evening we experienced quite a hurricane, which entirely unroofed the north wing of the Methodist Seminary; tore off a portion of the roof of the main building, and blew it on to the south wing, destroying a large part of the roof there also. The damage to the building is estimated at from $700 to $1,000.

Breaks in the Canal.—The heavy rain on Thursday caused several breaks in the canal. Two on the Feeder, which will be repaired in course of two or three days; two others on the level east of this place, which may possibly be fixed within the week; the Aboit aqueduct is damaged, and there are two or three breaks in the neighborhood of Dickey's Lock. We have not ascertained the extent of these, but learn that it will probably take at least two weeks to repair them.

Grant Co. Democratic Convention.—At a convention of the democrats of Grant Co, held at Marion, on Saturday last, the following delegates were appointed to attend the Congressional District Convention at Huntington on Wednesday next: John W. Dodd, F. P. Lucas, J. B. Horton, J. G. Vanhorn, R. B. Brown, J. S. Shively, and Zimri Reynolds—and the following as contingent delegates: E. Norton, E. Lane, J. C. House, A. J. Raley, Jesse Jackson, Franklin Leas, and D. P. Cubberley.

No instructions were given the delegates, or expression made of the feelings of the convention in regard to who should be the candidate for Congress; but we presume as a matter of course that the delegates will support the claims of A. J. Harlan for reëlection.

Secession of South Carolina!

The treasonable convention which lately assembled in Charleston, S. C., (as will be seen by the account of its proceedings on our first page) has resolved that that State shall secede from the Union—with or without the coöperation of the other southern states. It leaves it to the Legislature to adopt the most speedy and effectual measures towards that end.

We do not attach much importance to this talk of secession—for we believe it to be only talk. The convention was not the representatives of the people of South Carolina, but of the States Rights Associations in different parts of the state, who appointed the delegates. And even that convention was far from unanimous in favor of the secession. The resolutions were only carried by a majority of eleven votes. If the question be submitted to a vote of the whole people of the state we believe it will be negatived.

But even if otherwise, what will be the result? Will the mere declaration that they have seceded, take them out of the Union, and dissolve our glorious confederation? We cannot for a moment think so. Two or three national ships in the harbor of Charleston will be sufficient to collect the duties on the cargoes of all vessels entering there from foreign ports. If the chivalry resist this by acts of overt violence, they must be chastised, and their ringleaders punished as traitors to the Union.

When a dozen or a score of those miscreants meet the just reward of their treason, the affair will be done, and the secession farce ended.—The people will have their eyes opened, and the state will be all the better for being rid of the turbulent and mischievous men who have long controlled it, and made it a laughing stock and bye word among its sister states.

In either event we think this resolve to secede will have a beneficial effect. If an attempt is made to accomplish it, the South Carolinians will be learned the folly of the undertaking and the futility of their attempting to measure forces with the general government. If they do not attempt to carry their threats into execution—if this prove to be only another braggadocia, intended to intimidate the general government and the Union,—they will see that such things have lost their power, and excite only contempt and derision. They may possibly learn wisdom from this, and by discarding the ridiculous and mischievous counsels which have so long misled them, seek to retrieve the character of their state, and hereafter pursue a reasonable and sensible course, and occupy such a position among the states as their rank in the scale entitles them to.—When the scales fall from their eyes, they will see that South Carolina, instead of being the Union, is only a very insignificant portion of it—a mere drop in the bucket.

The Whigs and the Compromise.—A strong effort is making by the friends of Gen. Scott to have him nominated without giving publicity to his views on the Compromise question. This plan of "making no declaration for the public eye" is a favorite scheme of the whigs, —but it does not appear to take on the present occasion. Many influential whig papers insist on knowing how their candidate stands on this vital question, and will support no one around whose opinions there can be a shadow of doubt. The General will have to define his position—his friends will not be allowed to represent him in the South as a friend of the Compromise, and in the north as opposed to it.

The following from the St. Louis Intelligencer speaking the feelings of the whig party there on the question, and we see similar declarations in other southern and south-western papers. It will be seen that they make the support of the Compromise a sine qua non, and will sustain no man who is not sound on the question. How does the State Sentinel reconcile the fact of the Compromise being so emphatically a whig measure, with his efforts to have the same question supercede the old democratic platform?

☞ The St. Louis Intelligencer of the 3rd inst. heartily approves of the article in the Republican of the city the day previous on the subject of the Presidency. The Intelligencer concludes its article in this wise:

Such being our views of the importance of maintaining the fugitive slave bill, we trust, that in the next Presidential campaign, the whig party will enlist under the banner of no leader, around whose opinions touching this bill, there lingers the shadow of a doubt. So far as we are concerned, we would not vote for Henry Clay, Daniel Webster, Millard Fillmore, nor any other of the eminent men who adorn the whig ranks, if we had reason to doubt that he would faithfully, cordially and zealously sustain this bill. We would make it a sine qua non; for the reason that we love the Union more than party. But no man need hope to be the candidate of the whigs, unless he is sound in his subjects. Nor must there be any room for doubt as to his position. He must proclaim himself openly, boldly and in the most unqualified terms. Nothing less than this will satisfy the whigs of the south and west, and of a large portion of the east and north.— If therefore, there be the slightest ground to doubt Gen. Scott's position, on this subject, it is time he was removing this doubt, if he aspires to be the standard bearer of the whigs in the next contest. For ourselves, we know nothing to justify such a doubt, and in due time, the old Hero of Cerro Gordo, will doubtless place the matter beyond cavil or dispute.— From Millard Fillmore we need no declaration of his opinion on that subject. He has long since "defined his position" in unmistakeable terms. In precept and in practice, in theory and in fact, he has proved himself the staunch friend of the compromise in all its parts. There is no mistaking Mr. Fillmore's position on any of the great issues which divide the country.

The Heir of Derwentwater.—By E. S. Blanchard. Dewitt & Davenport, Publishers, Tribune Buildings, New York. Price 50 cents.

This is a romance, in which fiction is lost sight of in the life-like portraying of the characteristics of a high circle of English society. The truth of the maxim that a man's exterior appearance, or lofty station, is no criterion of his moral or intellectual character, is truthfully exemplified; and a graphic picture given of the men and manners of the reign of George III., showing what a slight moral difference then existed between the fashionable and aristocratic rood and the most desperate of those who ministered to his uncurbed excesses.

The author is a good observer of men and manners, and the many beautiful passages in his book prove that he has a rich vein of poetry in his soul.

DeKalb County Democratic Convention.

The Democrats of DeKalb county met in Convention on Saturday, the 17th of May, at the Court House in Auburn, and was called to order by the calling of Joseph Woolsey to the Chair, and J. P. Widney, Secretary.

On motion of R. J. Dawson, the following resolution was adopted:

Resolved, That all democrats present, residents of the county, be respectfully invited to participate in the deliberations of the convention.

The following is the vote allowed to each township.

Butler	4	Union	9
Jackson	6	Richland	6
Concord	11	Fairfield	3
Newville	1	Smithfield	3
Stafford	2	Franklin	5
Wilmington	5	Troy	2

On motion, the convention then proceeded to ballot for candidates for county offices, which produced the following result:

Joseph Woolsey, Assessor; Jacob Helwig, Commissioner, 1st district: John C. Hursh, Commissioner 3d district: Lyman Chidsey, Coroner.

On motion of T. R. Dickinson, Esq., a committee of five was appointed to recommend delegates to the Congressional Convention at Huntington, on the 28th inst. The committee made the following report, which was accepted and unanimously adopted.

Resolved, That Joseph Woolsey, Robert Work, John Shutt, R. J. Dawson, Jacob Helwig, and T. R. Dickinson be appointed delegates by this convention to attend the Congressional Convention at Huntington, on the 28th inst. Also, Resolved, That if any of the foregoing delegates should not attend, that they be authorized to select some person in their stead, and should they fail to attend, then the whole delegation in attendance at that convention fill their vacancy.

On motion of Geo. Ensley, Esq., the following persons were selected delegates to attend the Representative district convention at Angola, on the third Saturday of June next: O. C. Clark, G. C. Mudget, Wm. B. Dancer, Amzi Seely, W. Griswold, R. J. Dawson, S. W. Sprott, H. Fegler, G. Monroe, R. Work, G. Ensley, R. Martin, Wm. Shovers, Jacob Helwig, G. Barney, Saml. Widney, Moses L. Persons, Charles Knapp, Wm. Day, John Zimmerman, A. Cope, J. C. Hursh, F. Blake.

On motion of R. J. Dawson, the Chair appointed R. J. Dawson, Robert Work, and A. Cope to wait upon Hon. David B. Herriman, who the convention was informed was in town, and invite him to address the convention instanter. The committee retired, and soon after returned with Mr. Herriman, who declined making an address, but made a few potent remarks in "Old Dave's" style; to which the convention responded by the following resolutions—adopted unanimously:

Resolved, That we have all confidence in the honesty, integrity, and capability of our old and tried friend Hon. David B. Herriman, as a man every way eminently qualified to represent us in the 32nd Congress. And the delegates from this county be instructed to use all honorable means to secure his nomination.

Resolved, That in view of the great interest involved in the approaching election, we earnestly though respectfully request the delegates from our neighboring counties to assist our delegation in securing the nomination of the said David B Herriman.

On motion, Resolved, That the proceedings of this convention be published in the Fort Wayne Sentinel, and Albion Observer.

On motion the convention adjourned sine die.

Answer to the Enigma in our last.—Fort Wayne Sentinel—Friars—Oysters—Rant—Talent—Wife—An art—Yes—News—Eyre—Sweet Rose—Elates—Neat—Tyranny—Irony—New—Early—Lore.

Samuel Brenton.—The name of this gentleman, so well know in this community, is announced in the Fort Wayne Times, as a candidate for Congress in that district—"subject to the decision of the people at the ballot-box on the 1st Monday of August next."

We believe Mr. Brenton once practiced law, and has had experience in legislative matters as a member of the Indiana Legislature. He is a Whig in politics, and a Methodist in religion. We are not sufficiently acquainted with the man to speak of his fitness as a member of Congress. John B. Dubois and Sam. Mahon are also announced as candidates in the district. Both are Whigs.—Lafayette Jour.

Counterfeit Five Dollar Bills, on the State Bank of Ohio, have made their appearance within a few days, which are well calculated to deceive. Letter C. vignette five human figures, three of them females, one holding a rake, to the right of these two Indians—sheaf of wheat and a bunch of arrows in the centre —Franklin on the left hand margin. The hair of Franklin is coarse on the counterfeits, face rough, and a black spot at the tip of the chin. On the genuine notes, Franklin's countenance is plain, eyes good, and chin rounded. The engraving on the counterfeits appears darker than the genuine. Those seen were on the Athens Branch, but they can be filled with any other, as the name of the Branch is written in the note.

The Democratic Position.—The following article from the Fort Wayne Sentinel commends itself to the attentive consideration of every Democrat. The question involved is one entirely independent of, and far elevated above, all merely personal considerations.— While we have studiously abstained, for good reasons, from canvassing this subject in its personal bearings, on the course, character and position of the Press militant, at Indianapolis, when, to say nothing of the principle of the measure per se, the safety and success of the party and the whole Democratic policy is jeopardized by any effort to induce the adoption of a single ill-starred measure of a more than ordinary sectional character, as the alpha and omega of the political faith of the once Ism hating, and truly national Democracy, it becomes every sincere well-wisher of the benign policy, and beneficent aims of that great party to speak, if need be in trumpet tones, against delivering ourselves up to the guidance of predesigned, and therefore ill advised counsels, or the teachings of purblind prejudice. Our wish is that regardless of mere ephemeral questions, the Democracy will be found in future as heretofore, battling manfully for Democratic rights, and ready to embrace victory or defeat as the grateful reward or sad result of unfaltering devotion to well settled principles. We have but little to fear as to the great body of the Democratic forces, and as to the few who may be in danger of straying somewhat from the fold, we earnestly commend to them, for their own sakes, the injunction of the prophet:

Restoration of Thomas W. Dorr.—The following just act has been passed by the Rhode Island Legislature, restoring Thomas W. Dorr to his political privileges. The vote in the Senate stood 18 in the affirmative to 11 in the negative; and in the House 39 in the affirmative to 32 in the negative. In the House 4 whigs voted in the affirmative:

It is enacted by the General Assembly as follows: All the civil and political disabilities growing out of the sentence of the Supreme Court passed against Thomas W. Dorr, are hereby removed; and the said Thomas W. Dorr is hereby restored to his civil and political rights in as full a manner and with the same effect as if said sentence had not been passed.

The American Contributions.—We give below an extract of a letter from an American gentleman in London to his friends in this city respecting the portion of the Grand Exhibition which has been contributed by our country men and the comparison which it bears with the contributions of other countries. The view which he presents is not pleasant—indeed it is rather mortifying to our national pride—but it is from an honest and intelligent source, and, though unpalatable, the bitter may prove wholesome.—Nat. Intel.

"The importance of this Exhibition has been greatly underrated by us. The European display will be costly and magnificent beyond description. Some single individuals have gone to an expense of £10,000 in the arrangement and display of their goods. If our Government had granted us many dollars to the object, we might have made a creditable appearance. As it is, the American portion will bear an appearance of stinting and meanness not very flattering to our national vanity. The articles, now that they are in the building, are found to be insufficient to fill the allotted space, and a considerable portion of it has been resigned to other countries. I fear we shall be very badly beaten; and I advise any one who intends coming here in the expectation that this Exhibition is going to raise our country in the eyes of the world, to stay at home. I was one of those who expected it, but now that I see the splendid results of the art and taste of the European nations I feel that what we have to show is only creditable considering our youth. Some of our carriages and machinery are, however, quite comparable with the best here. In daguerreotypes, also, we shall excel, and in India rubber fabrics. But in all works of art and taste—in sculpture, glass, silks, woollens, and even in agricultural implements, we shall either be entirely surpassed or quite equalled. In designs we are thrown entirely into the shade. There will be an advantage growing out of all this. We have been "crowing ourselves among ourselves," until we have become convinced that we are ahead of all mankind.— This direct comparison will open our eyes, and must, I think, result in great good, by giving a powerful impulse to the arts in our country; if so, the temporary mortification will be more than compensated, and may be recurred to without regret."

Col. Collier's Speech.—We were not present at the Collier supper, and did not hear the Colonel's speech, but we are told that he bore hard upon some prominent members of the Whig party. Ex-Secretary Meredith was characterized as an official blunderer, and Horace Greely as a white livered scoundrel, who deserved to be pinned by the ears to the stocks. This is strong language, but if we have the right end of the story it is not stronger than merited. The Colonel's friends say that he will not tamely submit to be made the scape goat to carry into the wilderness the sins of the administration, but that he is determined to put the saddle on the right horse. We don't distinctly understand what's the matter, but there must be something wrong to call forth such emphatic opinions of the schemes of Whiggery.—Steubenville Union.

Although a strong Whig, Col. Collier is a patriot and a true hearted American. He denounced the traitors who opposed the Mexican war, and took sides with the Democracy in that memorable struggle. The Colonel was intended for a Democrat, but some how or other he got into the Whig ranks by mistake. We hope he will come out all right yet.—Pitts Post.

A New Railroad Enterprise.—Buffalo has taken steps to secure some of the advantages of the New York and Erie Railroad. A charter has been obtained and a road has been surveyed and located from Hornellsville on the Erie road, to Buffalo. The grade is favorable for speed, and the track will be laid six feet, to correspond with the rest of the road. It is thus designed to make Buffalo the terminus of the Erie road.— The distance from Hornellsville to Dunkirk is 134 miles, and from the same place to Buffalo it is 90 miles. The lake can thus be reached 44 miles nearer than by Dunkirk. To persons going up the lake this will be the route, and it will be of great benefit to Buffalo. The road will be pressed with all the vigor that money and energy can accomplish.—Toledo Blade.

Rail Road Matters.—A corps of engineers, are now in this county making preliminary surveys, with a view to the location of the Railroad. The corps started from this place East, yesterday, to run an experimental line to the county line. In a few days they will run west, in the direction of Fort Wayne.

We are pleased to see our people manifesting the energy in this matter that they are now showing. Whatever may have been the difference of opinion in regard to subscribing county stock, heretofore, the most of those with whom we now converse, feel disposed to extend all the aid and assistance in their power to the company; and all deprecate any action which can embarrass the company, or retard the completion of the work.

Much of the ability of the company depends at this juncture upon the amount of individual stock subscribed by our people. There are probably not fifty men in Allen county, who are not abundantly able to subscribe one share of stock, and at least one half of the tax payers can subscribe two shares and upwards, without inconveniencing themselves seriously. Many have already said that they will do much more, and very many have done much more in the way of subscription. Those who have promised aid can now afford it. Those who have not promised, but who are able to afford assistance, should now come forward. The stake is high, and is well worthy of every exertion to secure it. The people of Allen county never have had, and if the opportunity passes, probably never may have again, such immense results depending upon their own action.

The question is one of unlimited prosperity, of a high, active, and healthful improvement, or of a droning, inactive, negligent life. With this road, every facility for business and communication is opened—without it, we are tributaries of other counties, whose people have manifested more wisdom and energy than our own.

With results like these depending upon our action, who will hesitate?—Lima (Ohio) Argus

Railroad Meeting.—The people of Allen County are requested to meet at the Court House in Lima, on Saturday afternoon the 24th inst., at one o'clock, to take into consideration measures for the speedy completion of the Ohio and Indiana Railroad. Books for Stock Subscription will be opened on that day, and it is hoped that all who can attend will not fail to do so.—Ibid.

The Ohio and Indiana Railroad Co.

The company is authorized by charter granted by the Legislature of Ohio and Indiana to construct a railroad "commencing at a suitable point to be selected by said company on the Cleveland, Columbus and Cincinnati Railroad near Sulzer's tavern in the county of Richland; thence to Bucyrus, in the county of Crawford; thence to Upper Sandusky, in the county of Wyandot; and thence on route as the Directors of said company, or a majority of them may select, to the west line of the State of Ohio; and thence to Fort Wayne in the State of Indiana."

The eastern terminus of this road has been located at Crestline, the point of intersection of the Cleveland, Columbus and Cincinnati with the Ohio and Pennsylvania Railroad, twelve and a half miles east of Bucyrus.

A meeting of the Board of Directors of the Ohio and Indiana Railroad Company was held on the 1st of May, 1851, at Patterson, a little town on the Mad River and Lake Erie Railroad, thirty miles south-west of Tiffin City.— Members of the Board present: Willis Merriman, President; George Quinby, Jacob Augenstein and Franklin Adams, of Bucyrus, and Henry Peters, of Upper Sandusky, Directors; George Louck, Secretary; also Jesse R. Straughn, Chief Engineer, and Lot Dickson, Resident Engineer.

A large number of gentlemen representing the interests of the country along the line were present and participated in the deliberations, among whom were the following: Thomas K. Jacobs, Ferdinand H. Binkley and Edmund S. Linn, of Lima, Lester Bliss, of Delphos, and Thomas Nash, of Lafayette, Directors, and Matthias N. Nichols, of Lima, Secretary of the Great Western Railroad Company; Samuel Hanna, J. L. Williams, Pliny Hoagland and Peter P. Bailey, of Fort Wayne Indiana; Robert Gilliland, Edward R. Wells Ruben Frisbie, of Van Wert, and Silas C. Newton, of Delphos, Van Wert county, Ohio; Ben. Metcalf, of Delphos, and Daniel Bower, of Lima, Allen county, Ohio; William Cary, Edward Stillings, James L. Robinson, Hugh Letson and George Sweney, of Kenton, and Peter C. Boslow and A. F. Stanley, of Patterson, Hardin county, Ohio; Moses H. Kirby, Chester R. Mott, George W. Berry, David Ayres, Elijah Giles, John Junkins and Curtis Berry, of Upper Sandusky, Wyandot county, Ohio; Chester Cook, John W. Elder, Chauncey R. Fairchild, Solomon Ripley and George W. Wisford, of Mount Blanchard, and John W. Williams, John F. Perky and Dr. Lesley, of Williamstown, Hancock county, Ohio; Moses Lee, William M. Bell, Jabez S. Spencer and Thomas Coulter, of Kalida, Elisha Stout, William Hughes, John E. Grayton and William McClure, of Gilboa, Henry Kilheffer and Elam Day, of Pendleton and John B. Fruchey, of Pleasant, Putnam county, Ohio; and Andrew J. Taylor, of Paulding county, Ohio.

The Ohio and Indiana Railroad was located definitely from Upper Sandusky, in Wyandot county, west through Lima, in Allen county, to Delphos in Allen and Van Wert counties, and a union satisfactory to all parties effected with the Western Railroad Company, the interests of which have ever been and the efforts of which will hereafter be identical with those of the Ohio and Indiana Railroad Company.

Committees were appointed for the whole line to solicit subscriptions for the capital stock and obtain releases for rights of way on behalf of the company, and arrangements made for the completion of the preliminary surveys as soon as possible.

The prospects of the company are considered most flattering. The greatest enthusiasm and confidence in the early completion of the work prevailed at the meeting. The means for grading and bridging the road from Crestline to Fort Wayne may be regarded as already provided, with no intervening obstacle except the injunction proceeding now pending in reference to the public subscriptions of Crawford and Wyandot counties, which however effects the line only from the Mad River and Lake Erie Railroad eastward. The meeting at Patterson will operate most beneficially in concentrating the attention and energies of the people upon the completion of this important work. It is virtually an extension of the Ohio and Pennsylvania road to the great west, and the position of the line must make it a great and leading thoroughfare and its stock desirable as a means of permanent and profitable investment.—Bucyrus Forum.

From the European Times May 3.

Opening of the World's Fair.

After several days' excitement, during which the public curiosity has been wound up to the highest pitch, the morning of Thursday the day fixed for the opening of the Great Exhibition of the Industry of all Nations, opened most auspiciously. On the preceding day we had rain and hail with very cold weather; but the glorious 1st of May was uninterrupted by scarcely a cloud; and at mid-day when the Queen ascended the throne, the effulgence of the sun left no other wish ungratified. The scene upon entering was beautiful in the extreme. Already every seat was occupied, but a member of Parliament who was an exhibitor contrived to make a little coterie in the Tunisian department to which I was admitted, and I saw the whole inauguration scene under the happiest point of view. The company kept pouring-in until the last moment; and at half past eleven o'clock, I gazed upon the wonders of the grand transept, and heard the mighty organ from the west end, the tones wafting their sounds through the maze of British manufactures and productions; whilst at the eastern extremity you saw the American eagle proudly conspicuous over the bold inscription which marked the region of the United States productions—long lines of beautiful women, with officers and gentlemen, filling up the back ground, and in every way the eye was turned some surprising natural or artificial object was to be seen; the tout ensemble was altogether most beautiful. Punctually at twelve o'clock the Queen arrived, her entrée being marked by long and animated cheering. She seated herself on a chair raised on a platform surmounted by a spacious elegant blue canopy adorned with feathers, with Prince Albert on her left. They were accompanied by the Prince of Wales and the Princess Royal. The court circle was now completely formed, making a tableau never to be forgotten. The Queen looked remarkably well. She wore the order of the garter, a pink brocade dress, shot with gold, and the Prince looked calmly and proudly happy. The Duke of Wellington, who this day completed his eighty second year had been there nearly two hours before, and the commissioners and all the officials and ladies of the household surrounding the throne, presented a scene of extraordinary splendor. The National Anthem was performed, and the music produced a most delightful effect in the glass building. Prince Albert, with the commissioners, presented himself before the Queen and read the report as described in the official programme. The Archbishop of Canterbury then delivered the prayer of inauguration, which was followed by the Hallelujah Chorus of Haudel, under the direction of Sir Henry R. Bishop. The effect of this was most striking, and the voices of the choristers were here in the fullest perfection. A procession was then formed of a most interesting character. The procession marched along the British or western nave and then recrossing the transept, passed on to the eastern extremity, the United States end. At every step new acclamations arose; the music from the various organs saluted the procession as it passed, and thus every person in the building was enabled to see every individual in the cortege. The Queen then declared "the Exhibition opened" and the trumpets and artillery announced the fact to the countless multitudes outside. The whole auditory arose to give a parting cheer, or series of deafening acclamations of joy, and the ceremony terminated by the retirement of the Queen, who went back to Buckingham Palace in the state in which she had come. The multitudes in the park were countless. I looked through the glass window, and a sea of human beings surrounded me on all sides. Every body was in good humor, and all the superstitious presentiments of mischief which had been termed in the imagination of some minds, were wholly calmed. Never was so great a spectacle inaugurated with so much good order and tranquillity, in the presence of perhaps half a million of human beings.

The Queen having left the building, the company began to circulate. Along the nave, both towards the east and the west, there is a succession of gigantic statuary in marble, iron, bronze, and zinc, the latter of a very remarkable character. Almost the first object which arrests your attention is the Koh-i-noor diamond secured in a strong cage of iron, richly glided, and by a contrivance, this precious jewel, which is placed on a small pedestal, sinks at night into the strong iron chest upon which the cage rests, so that it is safe and secure night and day.— Crowds flock round the jewel to admire its size and brilliancy. Along the whole length of the building, in the centre of the nave, is placed a succession of most striking objects, relieved by the statuary. There are models of bridges and towns all of elaborate execution, and among them the model of Liverpool holds the foremost rank. There are besides enormous telescopes, exquisite models of machinery, small chapels to exhibit specimens of stained glass, the Acis and Galatea fountains, the American statues of the Wounded Indian and the Greek Slave, the statue of Shakespeare, and the crystal fountain in the centre of the transept, presenting a very graceful and striking appearance. Perhaps the the whole world has never furnished such a remarkable series of attractive objects as are contained in the nave alone.

I was prepared to find that the articles from the United States would fall short of the other parts of the Exhibition, from the statement put forth that they had demanded more room than they could adequately fill. Through the exertions of Mr. Riddle, the vacant space has been filled up, and although this division is not so crowded as the British side, it contains a national collection highly interesting. Their cereals and raw materials are very striking. Their mineral department is also very full. The carriages were not the least honorable part of their collection. A series of maps prepared for certain lectures at the missionary meetings, were admirable, and greatly surpassed those of a similar character in our national and public schools. It is, perhaps, invidious to single out individual exhibitors, but I must say that the zeal and energy with which the representatives of Messrs. Laddy & Phillips, of Philadelphia, the saddlers, and of Messrs. Cornelius & Co., the lamp makers, of the same city came forward voluntarily and pressed upon my notice their respective manufactures, made me feel that our English exhibitors must look well to their laurels, or such smartness will infallibly outrival them in almost any branch of trade.— The exhibition of Daguerreotypes is excellent.

Leaving the division of the United States, you enter the great department of the Zollverein, on the north and south sides. The collection of machinery and manufactures, of the most varied description, presents a thousand objects of the highest interest. Russia occupies a small department on the south, and this scarcely complete; but, to compensate for this, Austria also, on the north and south sides, exhibits a variety of products which place her in a very honorable position in the Exhibition. All the Austrian exhibitors are dressed in a simple Austrian green uniform, with coats fastened at the breast with a long clasp, inscribed "Austria" so that the general effect is admirable. Hurrying through Holland and Belgium, you enter the extensive region of France, which, when complete, will be very beautiful, and worthy the taste and skill of that great country. Switzerland and Brazil, with Italy and Spain on the north, succeed, and are followed by Greece, Persia, Egypt, and Turkey. The unfortunate delay in the arrival of Turkish steamer, with their objects, renders their division incomplete but the space abutting upon the transept having been appropriated to the ambassadors, and ladies of rank who had the entree, the deficiency was admirably concealed. Crossing the transept, you enter the British East Indies, which presents a very beautiful scene. On the south you then arrived at a square devoted to Canada, the West Indies, and the Australian colonies. The articles from these interesting spots in the British empire are all admirably illustrative of their rich productions. The minerals, the raw materials, afford abundant scope for study both the merchant and the philosopher.— A beautiful little square of mediæval treasures next attracts large crowds, who pass on to the sculpture room. You are now, on both sides the nane, fairly in the British domestic latitudes.— Whilst agricultural implements occupy the whole remaining length of the extreme south, paper and printing, and machinery in motion, fill up the extreme north; the front of the south side being devoted to Birmingham goods, furniture, Sheffield goods, woollen and mixed fabrics, flax from Ireland, and printed fabrics of Manchester, London, and Glasgow. The front of the north corresponding side presents a succession of departments, with carriages, some of them of the most exquisite construction, mineral manufactures, and marine engines, flanked on the front with paper goods, furniture, furs, leather, and cotton. We have now arrived at the west end, where crowds are seen surrounding the model of Liverpool, which is at this spot in the nave. On the outside of the building are statues, columns, specimens of coal, obelisks and a vast variety of architectural and building processes, with a detached building, whence the steam motive power is derived. I have only passed thro' the ground floor, not having said a single word respecting the contents of the gallery. This I shall defer until next week. I may state that there is but one gallery which runs the whole circuit of the building, and spacious quadrangular courts are cut out of the building, and spacious quadrangular courts are cut out of gallery, down into which the spectator may look and the objects are so arranged as to produce the most picturesque effect imaginable. It is computed that £50,000 were received by the side of the season tickets, which, added to the sums subscribed, will make about £130,000. The cost of the executive will be it is said, about £200,000, at least. There is scarce a doubt but that sufficient funds will be raised to make it entire self-supporting.

The American Contributions.—The display was on Saturday all but completed. Over the eastern entrance—a position which commands the main vista—are now emblazoned the American national arms—the eagle, with the motto "E pluribus unum," covering the stripes and stars, (now numbering thirty-one, the new planet California being represented.) The placing of the national arms of the States in a position so prominent, and the large extent of space claimed and allowed, prove that there was an intention on the part of that country to contribute much more largely to the Exhibition than they have done, and the vast difference between the purpose and the act is a matter to be regretted, whatever may have been the cause. Since our previous visit however, several additions have been made. The most prominent of these is a winter sleigh, such as is used in the Northern States. It is an elegant carriage for four persons, and so comfortable looking that one almost longs to be lolling on its silken cushions, to be carried across North American snows, cheered by the merry peal of silver bells which hang on its dash-board. Some remarkably light and handsome wheel carriages have also been added to this department of foreign industry, all of them deserving attention, and evincing that, in locomotive machinery, the taste and ingenuity of the American builders is quite equal to those of their European competitors.

Four and a half Octave Melodeon, extending from C. to F., extra finish,	65 00
Five Octave Melodeon, extending from F. to F.,	75 00
Large Five Octave Melodeon Piano Style,	100 00

THE subscribers take this method of calling the attention of the public to a New Musical Instrument as yet but little known to the musical world, viz: Prince & Co's improved Melodeon.

For the benefit of those residing at a distance, and consequently unable to inspect the Melodeon before purchasing, we will endeavor to give a short description of the instrument.

The cases are made of Rose Wood, and are as handsomely finished as any Piano Forte.— The Key Board is precisely the same as the Piano or Organ, and the tone, (which is very beautiful,) closely resembles that of the Flute Stop of the Organ—the notes speak the instant the keys are touched, and will admit of the performance of as rapid passages as the Piano.— The Pedal on the left is intended for a swell, and with which the most beautiful effects can be produced. The Pedal directly under the instrument supplies the wind, and works so easily that a child can manage it without exertion. The Bellows, which is something entirely new, and for which a Patent was granted in December, 1845,) is a reversed or Exhaustion Bellows, and it is this, in a measure, which produces the peculiar tone. The instrument can be immediately made portable without detaching any part, the Bellows receding into the body of the instrument, and the legs folding under and springing to their places, leaves the whole in a compact form. Each instrument has a packing case secured by lock and key.

The volume of tone is equal to that of a small organ, and by means of the swell, may be increased or diminished at the pleasure of the performer; it is sufficiently loud for small churches, and is well calculated for a parlor instrument. Hundreds have examined them, and all have been loud in their praise; but the best evidence of their merit is the rapid sale. But it is a new instrument—a new invention, and is yet but little known in the musical world, and it is for this reason that we call to it the attention of all lovers of Music, believing that there are thousands who would lose no time in securing one, were they aware of the existence of such an instrument, and the low price at which it could be obtained.

The following letter from Lowell Mason, Boston, to G. P. Reed, we are permitted to use:

Mr. Geo. P. Reed, No. 17 Tremont Row, Boston, Mass

Dear Sir: At your request I have examined one of the Melodeons manufactured by Messrs. Geo. Prince & Co., of Buffalo. I think the instrument in all respect equal, and some respects superior, to any others of similar kind which I have seen, and in particular with respect to quality of tone and promptness of touch, or action of the reeds, by which quick passages may be performed with a certain and distinct articulation of tones. An instrument of this kind is the best substitute for an Organ in Church Music, with which I am acquainted. LOWELL MASON.

Boston, Mass., Sept. 25, 1849.

☞ Just published,

"Prince's Complete Instructor

For the Improved Melodeon,"

to which is added favorite Airs, Voluntaries, and Chants, arranged expressly for this instrument. Price 75 Cents.

In consequence of the great success which has attended the introduction of Prince & Co's Melodeons, numerous imitators have sprung up in different parts of the country—offering instruments under the same name, and in outward appearance resembling them. We would therefore caution the public to be on their guard, and examine those made by Prince & Co. before purchasing. Many improvements applied are exclusively our own, and being the original manufacturers, our experience has enabled us to produce Instruments which a discerning public have unanimously pronounced superior to any thing of the kind hitherto manufactured. Many of the most eminent Musicians of the cities of N. York and Boston have voluntarily given testimonials as to the high character of our Instruments, which can be seen on application.

All orders from a distance will be promptly attended to, and a written guaranty of their durability will be given if required.

GEORGE A. PRINCE & CO.

The subscriber is appointed agent for the sale of the Melodeons, and will furnish them here at manufacturers' Prices, by which the cost of transportation will be saved. One of the Instruments may be inspected at his residence on Berry Street T. TIGAR.

20,000 lbs. Wool Wanted

AT THE

FORT WAYNE

Woollen Manufactory

RUDISILL & WOLKE return their thanks to the public for the liberal patronage they have received, and respectfully inform them that they have made large additions to their Machinery of the newest and best kinds, and having obtained skillful workmen from the east, are now prepared to take any quantity of wool to the halves and manufacture it into

CLOTHS, Cassimeres, Sattinetts Flannels, Blankets, &c.

warranted as good, if not better, than any other establishment in the west. Wool will be worked on shares, or taken in pay for goods. They have also on hand

4,000 YARDS OF WOOLEN GOODS, which they offer for sale or in exchange for wool on the most liberal terms.

WOOL CARDING.

We have in addition to our usual machines, procured of [illegible] New York, the MAMMOTH CARDING MACHINE, and are now ready for Carding. The Mammoth Machine will supersede all other Carding Machines in the western country. It is so constructed as to draw out Four Rolls at once, and do it much superior to any common machine, and will card 200 lbs of Rolls in 12 hours, so that we are at present prepared to

Card 500 to 700 lbs. Rolls in 12 Hours, and can accommodate any and every person on the shortest notice. Persons to secure good rolls must have their wool well cleaned and free from burs, and to every eight pounds of wool one pound of clean lard, otherwise the necessary lard will be charged extra. All wool brought in the above condition will be warranted to be well carded. Price for Carding is 3 cents per pound; wool will be received in pay for carding and grease will be according to quality. Directions should be given when wool is brought whether the pay is to be Cash or Wool. Persons from a distance can have their Wool Carded immediately.

CLOTH DRESSING AND DYEING.

We are also prepared to do any color and Country Cloth Dressing and dyeing in the cheapest manner and in the best workmanlike manner.

WANTED—25 bbls. Soap, also, 300 lbs. Lard, for which the highest price will be paid in Goods.

50 Barrels superior VINEGAR, 5 Bbls. MOLASSES,—for sale cheap for Cash.

Sept. 7. WALES & McMULLEN.

A Desirable Residence for Sale.

THE subscriber being about to remove to the country offers his present residence for sale. A full description is perhaps unnecessary, as the property is well known to most persons, and others wishing to purchase would examine for themselves. But it may be proper to say that it embraces three full lots, has a good house, barn, carriage house, and other necessary out-buildings, two wells of water, a good cistern, and a larger and greater variety of fruit trees, &c., perhaps, than upon any other property of the same extent in the city, nearly all of which is in bearing, having been set out some eight or ten years with choice selections from eastern nurseries.

Terms made easy to suit the purchaser, and possession given the ensuing Autumn, or sooner if very important to the purchaser.

The World's Fair

IS attracting thousands to London to witness the wonderful exhibition of human industry and skill; and the

GREAT CRYSTAL PALACE

covering 18 acres of ground, is almost worth a trip across the Atlantic to see—but as it is out of the power of many of our citizens to attend the fair, the next best thing they can do is to call at

B. Mason's Cheap Store, where they can without trouble or expense see a splendid and unrivalled collection of the choicest specimens of the Manufacturing Skill of all Nations.

The Silks, Cambrics, Lawns, and Fancy Articles of France, Italy, and Switzerland; Broad Cloths, Cassimeres, Prints, Cutlery, &c. &c., of England; the Linens of old Ireland; and last but not least, the Calicoes, Muslins, Hats, Boots and Shoes, and the Thousand and One "notions" of our own happy land—will all be found on his shelves. His store is almost equal to the Crystal Palace, in the neatness and variety of its contents, while in

The Extraordinary Low Prices

of which they are offered, it beggars it hollow.

At the World's Fair, the lucky and successful competitors will be rewarded by the recipient

BRONZE MEDALS FROM QUEEN VICTORIA, but B. Mason seeks and is resolved to obtain the higher distinction of the applause of

The Sovereigns of America!

—the "people." The exhibition is now open, and the Goods are rapidly selling at such Low Prices as have never been heard of before!

and must be witnessed to be believed. The rush is commenced, and those wanting to see the exhibition in its glory must call soon.

DELAYS ARE DANGEROUS!

At Mason's Exhibition will be found the neatest and latest style of Ladies' Dress Goods, such as Silks, Satins, Bereges, Silk Tissues, Plain, Figured, and Embroidered Lawns, Berage De Laines, Plain, and Embroidered Poplins, [illegible] Lustre, Chambray, Ginghams and Calicoes.

The Best & Cheapest Family Medicine in the World.

DR. ROBERTS'S

Compound Sarsaparilla Pills.

An alterative, Tonic, Diuretic and mild Cathartic Pill. 25 cents per box, containing 50 Pills.

Each box contains fifty pills, which makes them as cheap again as any other standard pill, and four times cheaper, and warranted the superior [illegible] in the cure of various diseases to any of the Syrups now sold, besides being a more convenient and pleasant form for use.

THE astonishing success which has attended the use of Dr. Roberts' Compound Sarsaparilla Pills is proof sufficient and conclusive that they are truly and that they will cure all curable diseases quicker and in a more pleasant way than any other medicine ever known.

The Pills are principally an alterative medicine, their base being the solid extract of Sarsaparilla, prepared in a superior manner, but sufficiently cathartic to gently assist nature, without purging unnecessarily, which makes them particularly adapted to weak and enfeebled persons, invigorating and strengthening the body, purifying the system, producing new rich blood and a healthy action of the stomach and liver.

They are acknowledged by our oldest physicians to be not only as recommended, but efficacious in the highest degree and as a general

Family Medicine Unequalled.

The Compound Sarsaparilla Pills are used for the permanent cure of those diseases which arise from an impure state of the blood, and morbid secretions of the liver and stomach, viz., erysipelas, scrofula or king's evil, ulcers, scald head, obstinate cutaneous eruptions, blotches, biles, pimples, sore weak or inflamed eyes, glandular swellings, rheumatic affections, pains in the bones and joints, dropsy, dyspepsia, asthma, diarrhoea and dysentery, coughs, colds, consumption, when caused by capillary obstruction of the lungs in persons of scrofulous constitutions, inflammation of the lungs, influenza, indigestion, headache, jaundice, fever and ague, chill fevers and fevers in general and nervous debility and diseases arising from an injudicious use of mercury, and whenever medicine is required to invigorate and purify the system.

They are purely vegetable compounds, and may be used by persons of all ages. They are pleasant to the palate, and produce no nausea, uneasiness or griping in their operations. Hundreds of certificates could be given of those who have used them with great benefit.

We ask no person to take our word as to the merits of the medicine, but to call on the agent and purchase a box, and if on trial it does not give the most perfect satisfaction they can return the box and receive the money paid for the same. Purchasers will be particular to ask for "Dr. Roberts' Compound Sarsaparilla Pills," and observe that the green wrapper on each box has a fac simile of the signature of Jos. Roberts, M. D., and C. P. Fay, and to purchase none others.

All applications for agencies and letters on the subject of the medicine must be addressed, post paid to C. P. Fay, Owego, N. Y. HUGH B. REED, Sole Agent.

"Cast thy Bread upon the waters!"

This is one of the most emphatic injunctions of Holy writ—and it will doubtless be gratifying to our readers to know that the text is in sentiment precisely the counsel and earnest advice of the far famed and truly fortunate Lottery Broker

P. M. PYFER,

CLEVELAND, OHIO.

Sole Agent for J. W. MAURY & CO., Contractors and Managers of all the Legal and

Most Splendid Lotteries

Drawn in the United States.

Every Drawing of the Latter announces the glad tidings that "Gold! yellow, glittering, precious Gold!!"

still continues to be garnered by the Correspondents of this well known and popular House.

Triumphant Success.

Did we not act upon the principle of contributing the "greatest good to the greatest number," we should now complacently "rest on our oars," satisfied with the free Rations of Correspondents who "drink deep" of the smiles of Fortune at our office, and solace ourselves with the collection that we have already earned fame enough to make ours one of the "immortal names that were not born to die," but in this progressive age we must keep pace with the times, and to do this we again present to the readers of this paper the

Schemes for May:

unequalled for their Dazzling Brilliancy, never surpassed for their well diversified chances, and equal in their liberal arrangement to any that ever preceded them. If we eclipse in this "rosy month" our past luck in distributing prizes they will excel in Magnitude and Splendor those of the previous months, we only go with the "progressive current," and "who can control his fate?"

No Risk, No Gain!

Is a self-evident fact, no less comprehended and acknowledged as a truism by "Christian, Jew, and Barbarian," than is the imperishable renown won by twenty years devotion to the cause of human happiness by the old established and truly fortunate Lottery Agent

P. M. PYFER,

CLEVELAND, OHIO.

TRY YOUR LUCK!

One trial can do no harm, but may realize an Independent Fortune. Think of this, ye who toil from "early dawn to the going down of the sun" for a bare subsistence, and try your luck. We conjure you to suffer no doubts to discourage the attempt to rise out of your "low estate." Shakspeare hath writ:

SPENCER HOUSE,

FORT WAYNE, IA.

THE subscribers (late of Ohio,) have leased for a term of years, the above establishment, which is undergoing a course of thorough repair and renovation, as well as enlargement, and to which they invite the attention of the travelling public. From their experience in the business, and their determination to spare no pains or efforts, they flatter themselves that they will be able to keep a house that will compare, without disparagement, with any hotel in the western country.

They have been fortunate in securing the services of cooks of tried excellence, for the culinary department of the establishment; and their stables will at all times be in charge of careful and trustworthy hostlers.

Knowing that to please their patrons is the condition of success, they will endeavor to give to house the character of a pleasant home, to all who may favor them with their custom.

A few pleasant rooms can be furnished to permanent boarders.

Their charges will be moderate and suited to the times.

The above establishment is located on Calhoun street, opposite the public square, and in the immediate vicinity of all the public offices.

THE "GREAT"

Indiana Land Agency

OUTDONE!

THE undersigned has been appointed an agent to sell all of the lands in Northern Indiana owned by the "Knightstown and Shelbyville Rail Road Company."

As this company is successfully operating on the High pressure system on their road, they have resolved to put their lands on the Low; and have authorised sales to be made at Two Dollars per acre, on five years' credit; thus giving every one a rare chance to own a farm.

Emigrants can be accommodated with four or five sections in one locality if desired.

The undersigned has also on sale large tracts of other lands in this, and adjoining counties; and is giving better bargains, and more of them, than is generally known; as he is entirely too modest to puff himself, and is not disposed to pay any one to do it for him.

AFTER the skill of several physicians had been baffled for ten years. Notice the date of this letter.

VERNON, IA. Dec. 3, 1849.

MR. C. EBY—Dear Sir: I take pleasure in stating that I have used Huff's Pulmonary Balsam for Coughs, Colds, &c., with the happiest effect.

My mother was cured of a severe Pulmonary Disease, which had defied the skill of several physicians, for ten years, with two or three bottles of the Balsam.

I regard it as one of the best medicines now in use for Pulmonic Complaints, and as such would recommend it.

Yours, truly, C. K. JOHNSON,
Editor & Proprietor of Vernon, Ia., Democrat.

The proprietor has so much confidence in the virtue and efficacy of this inestimable medicine, and it has proved entirely successful in so many desperate cases, that he

A Rare Speculation!

THE Undersigned offers a good opportunity to any one desirous purchasing a valuable Mill property, with a farm attached. The property is situated four miles from the city of Fort Wayne, and two miles above Fairfield & Freeman's mill, on the St. Mary's river. It is now improved with a good new and substantial Saw Mill, with a permanent dam—one of the best on the river; the supply of water is unfailing for the saw mill, and most of the year there is sufficiency for a grist mill. The saw mill is entirely new, and in first rate running order. There is attached to the mill 80 acres of rich bottom land, about 24 acres of which is under cultivation, and the remainder well timbered. Near the mill there is a good house, and a good well of water in the yard. Any number of logs can be purchased in the vicinity, and being handy to market, makes the situation altogether one of the most desirable ones in the country. My reason for offering it for sale is, that my son who has had charge of it is anxious to move to Iowa, and I am unable to attend to it. Terms made easy.—Call and see it.

Cash for 20,000 Bushels

OF WHEAT,

At the Empire Mills.

WE are prepared to pay CASH and HIGHEST PRICE for 20,000 bushel of good merchantable Wheat.

Farmers and Teamsters will save themselves much trouble and expense by driving directly up to the STONE MILLS and unloading; they will always get the highest price, and avoid the annoyance of being pestered by the barker and whipper snappers from the Stores, who now infest our streets and are such a bore to all who bring wheat to our market. We are not much given to boasting; but as some of our neighbors are talking of wanting 10,000 bushels of wheat we would inform wheat raisers that we can take 20,000; as our Mill, besides being the best, is the biggest, the highest, and the strongest in the country. We have a convenient WAGON-YARD and STABLE, for teams coming to the Mill, and a HOUSE for the Teamsters; we always furnish feed for the horses, and occasionally throw in Supper and Breakfast for the drivers. This is nothing new with us—we have always thought it our duty to do so, and should not now mention it if our neighbors had not set the example.

We keep constantly on hand FLOUR OF THE BEST QUALITY and all kinds of Mill Stuff; and promptly grind every thing in the shape of Custom Work—always excepting White Oak Tan Bark, or the "face of the Poor
